A Resource for the Commemorations of the Calendar

Liturgical Version

edited by Ken Booth

revised edition

Preface to the 1996 Edition

I am happy to commend this publication to the church. Our gratitude goes to so many for their painstaking work in compiling the material, most notably Ken Booth and Margaret Wood. Their investment in this project has been immense from the outset, as Ken's introduction illustrates.

- a) Each commemoration includes a short biographical section, a "liturgical paragraph" suitable to be read out at a service, and the suggested Sentences, Prayers, and Readings for liturgical use.
- b) The Maori material was made available to the appropriate people in the respective tribal areas and not only were they checked by them but their approval was sought and obtained. The material may be the most straightforward source of information about both Maori and other commemorations from Aotearoa / New Zealand and the Pacific.
- c) The book effectively replaces The New Zealand Calendar 1980 in relation to the sections called (i) Saints' Days and Other Commemorations (updated to fit the Calendar / Te Maramataka of A New Zealand Prayer Book – He Karakia Mihinare o Aotearoa, (ii) Sentences, Prayers and Readings for Other Special Days (updated to reflect the Prayer Book, page 13, these are formularies), and (iii) Sentences, Prayers and Readings for Various Occasions (see The New Zealand Calendar, pages 54-63, 90). For useful resources to replace the weekday and seasonal sections for Advent, Lent, and Eastertide from The New Zealand Calendar (pages 64-89), refer Ken Booth's Advent to Easter (1992), The Anglican Church in Aotearoa, New Zealand and Polynesia Liturgical Commission's publication, From Ashes to Fire (1990), or other Anglican or ecumenical resources.

Introduction to the 1996 Edition

When the Provincial Commission on Prayer Book Revision, which produced A New Zealand Prayer Book - He Karakia Mihinare o Aotearoa, disbanded on the completion of the Prayer Book, it left in an incomplete state some material intended to serve as a guide to the Calendar. Various members of the Commission had offered to produce the material on various commemorations, or had promised to persuade others to do so. Most of the entries in the Calendar had had some work done on them by the end of 1989. Some had been very carefully prepared, but quite a lot of the material was only in rough note form. Up to that point quite a number of people had been involved in the gathering of material.

The project then languished for a while. Eventually Margaret Wood and I offered to see it through to completion, and the Standing Committee of General Synod gave its approval. Margaret and I committed ourselves to providing a draft version of the work for use by the church during 1991. I undertook the editorial work and the commissioning of some of the remaining material from others, and Margaret saw to the data entry and printing of the hard copy. The incomplete state of the material we took over and the very tight production schedule meant that many of the entries had to be included without detailed checking. The work, published as For All The Saints, was very warmly welcomed by the church.

It had always been understood that in due course a thorough revision of the material would be done and a definitive publication arranged. Many of those who subscribed to the trial publication sent in corrections. This volume is the result of the work of checking and correcting the entries. The revision proved to be a very large task, as some of the material hastily put together for inclusion in For All The Saints proved to be erroneous or incomplete. Nevertheless, some of the material prepared for the first edition was of a high standard and needed no modification beyond the requirements of stylistic consistency. While, therefore, I must take due responsibility for the final form of the work, including any remaining errors, and for the parts I wrote myself, I would not want anyone to think that all the work is my own. In the nature of the case, one element calling for original creative writing was the collects, and these owe their form to the particular individuals or groups who produced them. The task of compiling and editing this publication has been absorbing and rewarding. If at times the commitment required by the task seemed daunting, I have completed it with a profound sense of respect and admiration for the people commemorated by the church. They represent almost every century of the church's history and most corners of the world. Of particular interest are the commemorations marking the history of the church in New Zealand and the Pacific.

Therefore, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us run with perseverance the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus the pioneer and perfecter of our faith.

Hebrews 12:1,2

Note to the Revised Edition

The decision to make the publication available electronically has provided an opportunity to correct some minor mistakes in the text, make any changes to observances that had been adopted by General Synod/Te Hinota Whanui since the original publication, and to update the bibliographies where appropriate.

It is our hope that the information contained here will enable Anglicans and others to be informed of the ministry of this Church. The Anglican Church in Aotearoa, New Zealand and Polynesia is a constitutionally autonomous member of the worldwide Anglican Communion. The Anglican Church in Aotearoa, New Zealand and Polynesia encompasses the area described by its title. The 1992 Constitution of this Church provides for three partners to order their affairs within their own cultural context. Within Aotearoa New Zealand, Tikanga Pakeha comprises seven Dioceses, Tikanga Maori comprises five Hui Amorangi, the boundaries of which differ from those of the dioceses. Tikanga Pasefika encompasses Fiji, Tonga, Samoa and the Cook Islands, and is known as the Diocese of Polynesia. Publication: 'Anglican Taonga' (Treasure) is a publication affirming the unity and diversity of the Anglican community in these islands.

*Saints' Days
and Other Commemorations*

“Jesus” is a version of the Hebrew name Yeshua (Joshua), very common among Jews in antiquity. In the gospel story, the weight falls not on Jesus’ circumcision (the sign of the covenant) but on his naming. The name was thought to mean “The Lord saves”; Jesus is to “save his people from their sins”. The name “Jesus” occurs frequently in the New Testament, often, outside the Gospels, in combinations like “the Lord Jesus”, “Christ Jesus”, or “Jesus Christ”.

SENTENCE

There is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among us by which we must be saved.      Acts 4: 12

COLLECTS

We thank you, Lord God, for the gift of your Son whom you commanded to be called Jesus;
grant that we may so honour his name on earth,
that others may be led to him who alone is Lord and Saviour.

Praise to you, Christ our Redeemer for you were circumcised this day and given Jesus as your name.
Praise to you, Jesus, well are you named for you save us from our sins.
Hear this prayer for your name’s sake.

Seraphim of Sarov
Mystic, Russia

January 2

Seraphim was a monk and priest of the Russian Church who became, after many years in solitude, a remarkable spiritual director (staretz), with great gifts of healing and insight. He was born in 1759. His life, marked by a radiant joy, was centred on the “prayer of the heart”, or “Jesus prayer”, an unceasing communion with Jesus. He stressed the need to draw Jesus into one’s heart, and that “every soul is brought to life by the Holy Spirit.” The whole aim of the Christian life he defined as the “acquisition of the gifts of the Holy Spirit and of the Holy Spirit himself”. He died in 1833.

SENTENCE

Great is the might of the Lord; yet the Lord is glorified by the humble.
Ecclesiasticus 3: 20 (adapted)

COLLECTS

Everloving God,
you made your servant Seraphim
an icon of prayer and self-denial;
grant to all your people
selfless love and commitment to others;
through the image of God invisible,
Jesus Christ our Lord.

Holy Spirit,
lifeblood to the saints
and to Seraphim the gentle Russian hermit, absorbed in his prayer,
in his single-minded love for you;
keep our devotion pure, we pray,
and tender-hearted.

Gladys Aylward
Missionary, China

January 3

Gladys Aylward was born in London in 1902. She spent her adult life as a missionary to the Chinese people, mainly in Yangcheng. She became a Chinese citizen, and was appointed by Chiang Kai-Shek to assist with the suppression of the custom of foot-binding. She is best remembered for her journey through the mountains in 1940 with Chinese children fleeing from the Japanese invaders. After 1957 she worked in Taiwan. She died there in 1970.

SENTENCE

God is my salvation; I will trust, and will not be afraid, for the Lord
God is my strength and my might. Isaiah 12: 2

COLLECTS

Loving God,
you gave your daughter Gladys Aylward audacity to go into the unknown
and suffer hardship for your children's sake;
give us willingness to face whatever is strange and terrifying;
for the sake of Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Jesus Christ, light of the east as of the west,
you called Gladys the servant girl
to bring your gospel to the end of the earth;
use, we pray, the little that we have.

POST-COMMUNION SENTENCE

Jesus said, "Go on your way. See, I am sending you out like lambs into the midst of wolves." Luke 10: 3

Today sees the beginning of the end of the Christmas season. We in New Zealand tend to celebrate Christmas from the beginning of December till Christmas Day. Our European ancestors began their celebrations on Christmas Eve, and kept them up till the twelfth day after Christmas. The theme of Epiphany is manifestation or revelation: principally the revelation of God in Christ to the Gentiles.

SENTENCE

Light has dawned for the righteous, and joy for the upright in heart.

Psalm 97: 11

COLLECTS

Gracious and loving God,
the source of all true light,
grant that the gospel of your Son
may enlighten our hearts and banish the darkness of this world;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

God of the unexpected,
may we who welcome Christ's revelation
never be threatened by what Christ may reveal.

We have seen his glory, the glory as of a father's only son, full of grace and truth.

John 1: 14

Epiphany commemorates the revelation of Christ to the Gentiles, particularly in the persons of the wise men from the east. The story reflects the church's major mission to the Gentiles. Like Balaam of old, these astrologers had seen the rising messianic star; the Jewish Scriptures (through Herod) led them to the place of the Jewish king's birth at Bethlehem. These Scriptures are fulfilled further in their gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh. They have also suggested that they were three kings who came first to worship our king.

SENTENCE

The Lord whom you seek will suddenly come to his temple; the messenger of the covenant in whom you delight is coming, says the Lord of hosts.

COLLECTS

Jesus, as we travel far and fast, lead our minds back to the wise men following your star,
and forward to the day
when all will see your shining light.

Jesus, light of the world,
let your bright star shine over the place where the poor have to live;
lead our sages to wisdom and our rulers to reverence.

O God, by the leading of a star
you revealed your Son Jesus Christ to the gentiles;
grant that your Church may be a light to the nations,
so that the whole world may come to see the splendour of your glory;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Hilary

January 13

Bishop of Poitiers, Teacher of the Faith

Hilary was born in Poitiers in the early fourth century and was elected bishop of the city by popular acclaim in 350. He became caught up in the controversies of the day over Jesus' relationship to God, himself defending the full divinity of Christ. He suffered exile for his stand between 356 and 360. His role as intermediary between eastern and western theologies, and his work, On the Trinity, gave him a significant place among early theologians. He died about 367.

SENTENCE

The Lord gives wisdom; and from the mouth of the Lord come knowledge and understanding. Proverbs 2: 6 (adapted)

COLLECTS

Almighty God,
your servant Hilary stood firm in the faith
and suffered exile for his integrity;
grant that we may never waver from our faith,
but abide steadfast in your Son,
in the fellowship of the Holy Spirit;
for you are one God, now and for ever.

Jesus,
harried by your claim to identify with God,

Sava

Founder and First Archbishop of the Serbian Church

Sava, a younger son of King Stephen I of Serbia, left home in his teens to become a monk on Mount Athos. There his father joined him a few years later. Together they founded the monastery of Chilandari, a centre of Serbian religion and culture, which continues to this day. About 1208, Sava returned to Serbia and helped consolidate the kingdom under his brother Stephen II. He also reformed and reorganised religious life. He established an autonomous Serbian church and became its first archbishop. Sava died in 1235. He is the patron saint of Serbia.

SENTENCE

I will raise up shepherds over them who will shepherd them, and they shall not fear any longer, or be dismayed, says the Lord.

Jeremiah 23: 4

COLLECTS

Loving God,
you called your servant Sava
to found and build the Serbian church;
may we who are built on Christ's foundation

Mark 12: 10

Antony of Egypt
Abbot

January 17

Antony was born about 251. As a young man, he chose to give away his possessions and live an ascetic life in the Egyptian desert. Solitude and manual work, poverty and self-denial, charity and prayer were the hallmarks of his life. He went through great spiritual struggles, which gave him the wisdom to offer rich and sensible counsel. Many came into the desert to model their lives on his and to discover through silence a purity of heart which leads to an ever greater love. Antony died in 356.

SENTENCE

The just shall flourish like a palm tree; planted in the house of the Lord, they flourish in the courts of our God. Psalm 92: 12, 13

COLLECTS

Merciful God,
the strength of all who commit themselves to you,
you called Antony to renounce the world
and to serve you in the solitude of the desert;
give us grace to follow the way of perfection,
that we may count all things as loss
in the joy of knowing Christ, our Lord and Saviour.

God of the desert,
we remember before you the thousands who went to seek you in solitude,

Agnes
Child Martyr at Rome

January 21

Agnes is one of the most famous of early Roman martyrs. She is remembered for her dedication to Christ and her willingness to face martyrdom at the age of thirteen in preference to breaking her vow of virginity in favour of marriage. Her wide-spread veneration points to the growing value placed on virginity in the fourth century. There is little historical information about her, and even the traditional year of her death, 304, is by no means certain.

SENTENCE

Blessed are the pure in heart, for they will see God.     Matthew 5: 8

COLLECTS

Loving God,
you choose what is weak in the world
to shame the strong;
grant us so to cherish the memory
of your young martyr Agnes,
that we may share her pure and steadfast faith
in Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Jesus, you bless the pure in heart,
and you blessed Agnes,
who chose to be your lamb;

January 22

Spanish Deacon and Martyr, Saragossa

Vincent was born in Saragossa in Spain. During the persecution under Diocletian, he was arrested, persecuted, imprisoned and half-starved. Vincent died about 304 under tortures which, according to legend, included being roasted on a gridiron. Although facts are buried under legend, his widespread and early fame attests his veneration as a heroic witness to Christ.

SENTENCE

COLLECTS

Everliving God,
you gave your servant Vincent courage to endure suffering and death
for the sake of the gospel;
strengthen us by your Spirit,
so that in all trials and difficulties
we may remain firm in our faith;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

God of blood and sacrifice,

who suffered unbelievable tortures and martyrdom
with legendary fortitude.

Jesus said, "Those who lose their life for my sake, and for sake of the

The conversion of Saul, the zealous Jewish Pharisee of Tarsus, into Paul, the passionate apostle to the Gentiles, occurred on the road to Damascus. Saul was on an expedition to hunt out and arrest all those he could find in the synagogues who believed in Jesus. A blinding light and a voice from heaven stopped him in his tracks and convinced him that the message of the good news of Jesus Christ was indeed from God, and that henceforth he must proclaim Jesus as the Christ, the Son of the living God.

SENTENCE

Timothy and Titus
Companions of St Paul

January 26

Timothy, half Greek and half Jewish, and Titus, wholly Greek, were two of Paul's most loyal and devoted companions. Timothy was the co-sender (always with Paul and often with Silas as well) of several letters, and Timothy and Titus were Paul's representatives on special missions. We remember them today, the day after the feast of the Conversion of St Paul, as his hardworking and much-travelled companions and helpers. They remind us that loyal and devoted support plays an important part in any leader's mission.

SENTENCE

Psalm 91: 14

COLLECTS

Loving God,

Born in Antioch in 347, John earned his nick-name, “the golden-mouthed” (Chrysostom), for his brilliant preaching. He was much attracted to the ascetic tradition, which became popular in the fourth century, and preached vigorously on the need for a disciplined Christian lifestyle. He was made patriarch of Constantinople in 398 against his will. His crusading moral zeal gained him enemies in church and state, who succeeded in having him exiled to Armenia, where he died in 407.

SENTENCE

I will give you words and wisdom

POST-COMMUNION SENTENCE

Let the words of my mouth and the thoughts of my heart be acceptable in your sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer.

Thomas Aquinas
Teacher of the Faith

January 28

Thomas Aquinas was the greatest thinker and teacher of the medieval church. He was born in 1225 and became a Dominican. He offered the church a deep theological understanding of the physical world as conveying divine truth, even though faith is needed for other aspects of God's truth. His profound thought and gentle spirit earned him the title "the angelic doctor". Some of his eucharistic hymns are still sung. He died in 1274.

SENTENCE

Happy is the person who meditates on wisdom and reasons intelligently.
Ecclesiasticus 14: 20

COLLECTS

Almighty God,
you have greatly enriched your church
through the holy learning of Thomas Aquinas;
enlighten us more and more
by the work of scholars and believers and deepen our devotion by the example of saintly lives;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

God,
you give us all our wisdom, all our knowledge;
we thank you for Thomas,
for his supreme discovery
that everything he thought, everything he wrote was straw compared with your inexpressible riches.

POST-COMMUNION SENTENCE

All of us, with unveiled faces, seeing the glory of the Lord as though reflected in a mirror, are being transformed into the same image from one degree of glory to another.                    2 Corinthians 3: 18

King Charles, born in 1600, succeeded to the throne of England in 1625. He staunchly resisted the rising power of Parliament and incorporated in his resistance a strong adherence to episcopal control of the church. He promoted an Anglicanism more traditionally Catholic than the prevailing Calvinism. Opposition between king and Parliament erupted in civil war. The king was eventually executed by the army in 1649. Although a man of high moral character and piety, Charles was a victim of his political ineptitude.

SENTENCE

Your kingdom, O Lord, is an everlasting kingdom, and your dominion endures from age to age. Psalm 145: 13

COLLECTS

Almighty God,
ruler and sustainer of all things in heaven and earth,
you gave to King Charles of England courage patiently to endure to the end for his beliefs;
grant us a like willingness to suffer for the truth,
to the glory of your name;
through Jesus Christ, our king and our Redeemer.

Eternal God,

Brigid of Ireland
Abbess

February 1

Brigid was the abbess of Kildare and second only to Patrick in significance as a saint to the Irish people. Little reliable information is available on her life, but the legends and stories about her portray her as holy and compassionate, with a deep love of the poor. She died about 525.

SENTENCE

Let your light shine before others, so that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father in heaven. Matthew 5: 16

COLLECTS

Creator of life and light,
you call your people
to holiness of life and a compassionate spirit;
grant that like Brigid of Kildare
we may show your love to the poor and the hungry and follow with zeal and devotion the way of your Son Jesus Christ, our Redeemer.

Blessed are you holy God
in Brigid, abbess of Kildare, who in her time
kept alive the church's prayer;
may we in our time do the same.

The Presentation of Jesus in the Temple

February 2

The story of the presentation of Jesus in the Temple is told only by Luke. Luke's main interest is not in the rites of purification, nor in the presentation of the first-born to God. Rather, in the Temple, the centre of Jewish worship, obedience to the Law and the hopes expressed by the prophets find their fulfilment in Jesus. The coming of God's chosen one, however, will also bring division. Anna the prophetess reiterates the theme of the promise of God "to all who were looking for the redemption of Jerusalem".

SENTENCE

Be renewed in the spirit of your minds, and put on the new nature, created after the likeness of God in righteousness and true holiness.

Ephesians 4: 23-24

COLLECTS

Everliving God,
your Son Jesus Christ was presented as a child in the temple to be the hope of your people;
grant us pure hearts and minds
that we may be transformed into his likeness,
who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit,
one God for ever.

Holy God,
they brought the little Christ to his Father's house,
with peasant gifts, to consecrate him;
grant to us, little or great,
that consecration;
for he is alive and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit,
one God for ever.

February 3

Archbishop of Hamburg,

Missionary to Denmark and Sweden

Anskar, Archbishop of Hamburg, who lived from 801 until 865, was a missionary to Denmark and Sweden. He was invited to Denmark by King Harold in 826. He founded schools and preached widely and was famous for his charity to the poor. Anskar saw no great results from his work, especially in Sweden, but he is the patron saint of Denmark.

SENTENCE

See, I am going to bring them from the land of the north, and gather them from the farthest parts of the earth, says the Lord.

COLLECTS

Gracious and eternal God,
your servant Anskar laid the foundations for the gospel among the people of Scandinavia,
but did not see the results of his labours;
give us patience and keep us from all discouragement,
knowing that you will surely bring to completion
the work that you have begun;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

We praise you, God, for Anskar, who took the gospel to the Danes
and, when they did not want it, to the Swedes,
and then back to the Danes;
so thousands heard the gospel from him and rejoiced.

Luke 9: 2

In 1597 twenty-six Christians (some priests or monks, but mostly lay folk, including three altar boys) were put to death near Nagasaki as part of a persecution aimed at wiping out Christianity in Japan. Subsequently, many more Christian converts were put to death. The teaching of Christianity was proscribed until the middle of the nineteenth century. But when missionaries were allowed into Japan in the 1850s, they discovered that there were several thousand Christians, who, though without priests and teachers for over two hundred years, had preserved and practised the faith in secret.

Cyril and Methodius
Missionaries to the Slavs

February 14

Cyril and Methodius were brothers from Thessalonica, who because of their ability with languages were sent in 862 to establish the church in Moravia, in answer to an appeal from the prince there. They did much to foster Slavonic literature and an indigenous church, but became involved in disputes with the church in the Frankish Empire in the west over “civilised” Latin versus “barbaric” Slavonic as an appropriate language for the church’s message. Cyril died in 869. Methodius became Archbishop of Sirmium and died in 885.

Acts 4: 31

The birth of Jesus was accompanied by violence, just as the Israelites had suffered violence in Egypt. The baby Jesus had to flee for his life, and in his place Herod the Great, Jewish ruler for 37 years under the Romans, put to death male children two and under in and around Bethlehem. Although we have no other evidence of this massacre, it is consistent with some other acts of Herod. Because these children suffered for Jesus' sake, the church has regarded them as martyrs.

Janani Luwum was born in 1922 and became Bishop of Northern Uganda in 1969 and Archbishop of the Church of Uganda in 1974. He was murdered on the orders of President Idi Amin on 16 February 1977. His death was a direct result of protests made by the Ugandan bishops about the abuse of human rights under Amin's regime. With great courage he had carried a personal protest to the president on behalf of the Church of Uganda, knowing that in doing so he was probably signing his own death warrant.

*Martin Luther
and other Reformers of the Church*

February 18

Martin Luther was born in 1483 and became an Augustinian Hermit. His personal discovery that salvation rests solely on the grace of God led him to oppose the church's medieval system that gave the church significant control over the assurance of salvation. He sought a debate by posting his ninety-five theses on the church door in Wittenberg in 1517. He rested his case on the authority of Scripture alone. Luther's work let loose a wide-ranging movement of reform in the church, that was carried on by others in many cities in Europe. Luther died in 1546.

The church in Africa has had many martyrs, from those in early centuries who refused the state's demand that they deny their faith, to those in Kenya in the 1950s who refused to take the Mau Mau oath of racial hatred, and to Archbishop Luwum who died on the orders of Idi Amin in 1977. We commemorate the unnamed saints, whose simple faith, zeal in evangelism, and loving service have caused the church to grow rapidly in Tropical Africa. We remember the courageous witness of Christian minorities in North Africa and those who in Southern Africa struggled against the injustice of apartheid.

Today we celebrate Peter and his confession of faith, “You are the Messiah, the Son of the living God.” Peter, the impulsive and rash, trying and failing to walk on the water; denying his master before the crucifixion, yet risking imprisonment and death after Pentecost; baptising the Roman centurion Cornelius, yet failing in charity to Gentile Christians at Antioch and being rebuked by Paul. The tradition of his martyrdom in Rome is early, and the site of his burial under St Peter’s is highly probable.

Polycarp was Bishop of Smyrna in Asia Minor for over fifty years. He was born about 70 CE, knew St John in Ephesus, and provides an important link from the apostles to the later church. The refusal of Polycarp and others to take the religious oath to the emperor led to their execution in 156. Urged to curse Christ, Polycarp said, "For eighty-six years I have been his servant, and he has done me no wrong. How can I blaspheme against my king and saviour?"

SENTENCE

George Herbert was a classical scholar and gifted musician who gave up a promising career to study for the priesthood. He was born in 1593 and died in 1633. His collection of poems includes such well-known hymns as “Teach me, my God and King”, “The God of love my shepherd is”, and “Let all the world in every corner sing”. In his other writings, Herbert presented a vision of the clergy which became a model for future generations. Although he had fewer than three years in his own parish, his life was such that his name continues to be remembered as a shining example of faithful ministry.

He was born in 1819 and came to New Zealand in 1849 as a Lutheran missionary. He joined the Church Missionary Society in 1852 and was ordained priest in 1861 by Bishop Selwyn. The Te Whakatohea chief, Mokomoko, was executed for Völkner's death, but Maori oral tradition as well as historical research prove his execution was unjust. Völkner was killed by Maori for several reasons, including passing on information about Maori troop movements in the New Zealand Wars to Governor Grey.

Ko te Karaiti hoki to tatou maunga rongo, nana i mea nga mea e rua kia kotahi, whakahoroa iho e ia te patu e arai ana i waenga.

Epeha 2: 14

Christ is our peace; in his flesh he has made both groups into one and has broken down the dividing wall, that is, the hostility between us.

John Wesley, Preacher
Charles Wesley, Poet

March 3

John and Charles Wesley were born in the early eighteenth century and were strictly educated by their mother. They carried this strict discipline into the “methodical” religion of the “Holy Club” at Oxford University. In 1738 each discovered the assurance of God’s free grace for sinners. Their message received little welcome in churches, so they began speaking in the open air. Charles’ great contribution was a copious supply of hymns to be sung by their followers. Charles died in 1788 and John in 1791. Mainly for practical reasons and through lack of contact and understanding, Methodism eventually separated from the Church of England.

SENTENCE

You, O Lord, put a new song in my mouth, a song of praise to our God.

COLLECTS

God of love,
you inspired your servants John and Charles Wesley with zeal for holiness of life and gave them eloquence in speech and song;
grant that with heartfelt conviction like theirs
we may find joy in your service;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Jesus Christ, light for everyone who lives,
we praise you for John and Charles,
who prayed and preached and sang with people whom their church ignored;
like them, may we be ministers to all.

Perpetua and her Companions Martyrs at Carthage

March 7

Perpetua, a young woman of twenty-two, her slave Felicity, and three men, all recently baptised, were thrown to the beasts in the arena in Carthage in 203. A contemporary diary details the events of their sufferings and witnesses to their willingness to die in order to fulfil their following of Jesus. The totalitarian empire, loyalty to which was more and more symbolised by worship of the emperor, tried to suppress Christianity, but the courage of Perpetua and her companions and others like them bore witness to the power of the gospel.

SENTENCE

These are they who have come out of the great ordeal; they have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.

Revelation 7: 14

COLLECTS

Good and gracious God,
you are the strength of those who suffer
and the reward of those who endure;
we praise you for the steadfast courage of Perpetua, Felicity and their friends;
like them may we rise above pain and suffering, and endure
because we know you, the invisible God;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Jesus Christ, your glory shines
through pain and brutality;
we praise you for Perpetua and her four companions
who chose baptism
and therefore to be mauled by beasts and killed;
may we choose baptism,
wherever it may lead.

Gregory the Great
Bishop of Rome, Teacher of the Faith

March 12

Gregory was born about 540 and became pope in a turbulent era. He used his great ability as an organiser to defend Italy against the Lombard invasions and to arrange extensive relief for the poor. He was responsible for sending Augustine to Britain, and wrote a text-book for the episcopate on pastoral care. Gregory also promoted monasticism as a vigorous outreach of the church. He died in 604.

SENTENCE

Kereopa and Manihera of Taranaki Martyrs at Turangi

March 12

Te Manihera and Kereopa were martyred at Turangi in 1847. The story of their early missionary work in the Hawera area and their subsequent dedication to set out on a dangerous preaching mission has long been remembered. They died after being shot as they approached the village of a tribal enemy. No utu was sought, and later their former adversaries created a mission base where many became Christians. The blood of the martyrs was the seed of the church.

Patrick
Bishop, Patron Saint of Ireland

March 17

As a boy Patrick was taken captive by Irish raiders. After escaping, he trained as a priest, but felt a deep longing to preach the gospel in the country of his former captors. He returned as a bishop and, although faced with opposition and danger, he brought the love of Christ to the people and established the church in Ireland. His monastic foundations in particular were to have far-reaching effects. He died about 461.

SENTENCE

Cuthbert
Bishop of Lindisfarne, Missionary

March 20

In his life Cuthbert was a shepherd-boy, a monk, a prior, and a hermit, and then, reluctantly, Bishop of Lindisfarne. He always retained his fondness for animals and his enjoyment of hard physical work. Cuthbert lived an austere life devoted to prayer, and he also undertook long journeys, caring for the people of his diocese. He possessed a deep tenderness and sensitivity, a broad compassion and an understanding heart. He had a great love of learning, and Bede says, "Like a good teacher, he taught others to do only what he first practised himself." He died in 687.

SENTENCE

Hear the word of the Lord, O nations, "I, the Lord, who scattered Israel will gather them, and keep watch over them as a shepherd a flock."

Jeremiah 31: 10 (adapted)

COLLECTS

Thomas Cranmer
Archbishop of Canterbury
Liturgist and Martyr

March 21

Thomas Cranmer, Archbishop of Canterbury for twenty-three years under three Tudor monarchs, was martyred as a heretic on 21 March 1556, when Queen Mary temporarily brought the English church back into the papal fold. Cranmer steered the church through the troubles of the Reformation and left an unparalleled legacy of liturgical writing in the Book of Common Prayer. His writings expressed his mature, reformed, biblical theology. For him nothing was more important than that Christians should “read, mark, learn and inwardly digest” the Scriptures.

SENTENCE

Psalms 45: 1

COLLECTS

Almighty God,
your servant Thomas Cranmer guided the Church of England through the tumult of reformation and provided a liturgy in the language of the people, sealing his work with his life’s blood; strengthen our faith when it wavers, so that at the last we may stand firm, through the grace of your Son Jesus Christ.

Bishop of Bath and Wells, Poet

Thomas Ken was born in 1637 and became Bishop of Bath and Wells in 1684. Thomas opposed moves by James II to permit Roman Catholic and Nonconformist worship in England. For this he was, with six other bishops, arrested and tried, but acquitted. When James fled, Bishop Ken refused to swear allegiance to William and Mary because he had already sworn to James. For this he was deposed from his see. He was a devout, austere man, whose hymns, "Awake, my soul, and with the sun", and "Glory to thee, my God, this night", are still sung. He died in 1711.

As successive waves of Europeans arrived in North, Central and South America over five centuries, they brought their Christian faith with them in all its diversity. Life on the frontier was often harsh and brutal, governed by the need to survive, and involving many conflicts. Christ's pioneers have also lived on the frontier, extending the rule of God. They have sought justice for the oppressed, cared for the poor, brought healing to the sick, sought to win people to faith and to widen their vision. Beyond the frontiers of conventional piety, they have often faced misunderstanding and hostility. We give thanks for a wide variety of witnesses.

SENTENCE

I will say to the north, "Give them up" and to the south, "Do not withhold them; bring my sons from afar and my daughters from the ends of the earth."
Isaiah 43: 6

COLLECTS

God of life and goodness,
you have brought people from many backgrounds together
in the nations of the Americas;
may the witness of the saints and martyrs of those lands encourage us to work
for your reign of justice and love, till all your children are free
and the earth is full of your glory;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

God of the Americas,
we praise and thank you for the millions,
who through adventures, dangers and disasters
have lived and died confessing the faith;
may they win for our generation
the freedom they sought.

If the Son makes you free, you will be free indeed.                    John 8: 36

Dietrich Bonhoeffer
Pastor, Theologian, Germany

April 9

Dietrich Bonhoeffer, born in 1906, is remembered for his determined opposition to National Socialism and for his courageous suffering and death at the hands of the Gestapo on 9 April 1945. He was convinced that religion must be central to life and explored ways of talking about God in secular language as “the beyond in the midst”, even when this meant freeing Christianity from the strictures of traditional religion. His own life in captivity bore eloquent testimony to his belief that “it is the fellowship of the cross to experience the burden of the other.”

SENTENCE

Thus says the high and lofty one whose name is Holy, I dwell in the high and holy place, and also with those who are contrite and humble in spirit. Isaiah 57: 15

COLLECTS

Living God,
the source and ground of all life,
through your Son you call us
to enjoyment of your world;
strengthen us, as you strengthened Dietrich Bonhoeffer,
to live by a realistic faith,
and if you require it to suffer for the truth;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Jesus,
we thank you for your humble servant Dietrich,
his patient questioning,
his religionless Christianity,
and most of all,
for his witness as a martyr.

William Law
Priest, Mystic

April 10

William Law was born in 1686 and was ordained priest in 1728. Unable to hold any office in the church because he refused to acknowledge George I as the rightful king, he devoted much of his life to writing. The book for which he is most remembered today was published in 1728: A Serious Call to a Devout and Holy Life. He advocated a strictly disciplined life of personal holiness. His later writings show a mystical emphasis on the indwelling of Christ in the heart. He died in 1761.

SENTENCE

You shall be holy, for I the Lord your God am holy.      Leviticus 19: 2

COLLECTS

Holy and merciful God,
you filled the heart of William Law
with devotion and zeal in your service;
set us afire with love and obedience,
that, encouraged by his teaching,
we may grow in true holiness of life;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

God,
you call us to hunger and thirst for what is right, and to follow your servant William in his serious call
to devout and holy living;
grant that we who preach to others
may never find ourselves rejected.

George Augustus Selwyn
Bishop of New Zealand

April 11

George Augustus Selwyn was born in 1809 and was appointed the first Bishop of New Zealand in 1841. He brought to his task enormous energy in visitations of his huge diocese, which included the islands of Melanesia. He also devoted considerable efforts to the work of education for Maori and Pakeha. His most enduring contribution, however, was the drawing up of the Anglican Church's first constitution for its synodical government. In 1868 he became Bishop of Lichfield and died there in 1878.

SENTENCE

Anselm, who was born in 1033 and died in 1109, is remembered primarily as a teacher of the faith. His treatises on the existence of God and the doctrines of the incarnation and the atonement gained him a reputation as an outstanding theologian and philosopher. As Archbishop of Canterbury he initiated significant reforms in church organisation. He is also remembered for his insistence on the spiritual authority of the church over against the crown.

George
Martyr, Patron Saint of England

April 23

George, who was martyred at Lydda in Palestine about 304 in a period of intense persecution, is celebrated as the patron saint of England. Virtually nothing is known of his life or even of his martyrdom. The growth of his popularity in England seems to stem from the time of the crusades. Caxton's printing of the story of St George, including the famous but apocryphal and medieval story of the slaying of the dragon, enhanced his popularity even further. King Edward III made St George patron of the Order of the Garter.

SENTENCE

Worthy is the Lamb that was slaughtered to receive power and wealth and wisdom and might and honour and glory and blessing.

Toyohiko Kagawa
Teacher, Evangelist, Japan

April 24

Toyohiko Kagawa was born in 1888 and came to know Christ at the age of fifteen. His prayer was, "O God, make me like Christ." This prayer led him to live in poverty and to become a tireless worker for social justice, to found trade unions and a peace movement, to evangelise and to write books. His baptism led him into conflict with his family and with the Japanese government. Yet, twice the government called on him to lead the work of reconstruction after national disasters. His limitless love for others marked him out as one who was truly "like Christ". He died in 1960.

SENTENCE

The bodies of six of the Melanesian Brothers were buried at the Motherhouse of the Melanesian Brotherhood on the 24 October. Robin Lindsay was buried there on 5 November.

SENTENCE

COLLECTS

Lord God,
we thank you for the love and willingness of the seven martyred Brothers to live the life, death and resurrection of Jesus.
We thank you that the event of the cross is not a past experience
but a present reality for us.
Empower us, your weak and vulnerable people,

John Mark's mother lived in Jerusalem, and Mark was a companion of Paul and Barnabas on their first missionary journey. Paul and Barnabas parted company, and Mark went with Barnabas to Cyprus. The rift between Mark and Paul was not permanent, for we later hear of Mark as a companion of Paul, and after that we hear of him in Rome with Peter. Heni Te Kiri Karamu was born in 1840. Later in her life she was active in Maori concerns in Rotorua, where she died in 1933. She is best remembered as the compassionate heroine of the 1864 battle at Gate Pa on the outskirts of Tauranga. During a lull in the conflict, Heni heard a cry for help from a mortally wounded British officer. She crept down to where the officer lay and gave him and some others water to drink. Little is known about these two apostles. Both appear in the lists of the twelve apostles in the New Testament, and are frequently confused with other early Christians of the same names. All we know of James, sometimes called James the Less to distinguish him from others of the same name, is that he was the son of Alphaeus. Philip has a more prominent role in John's Gospel in various episodes. They have been commemorated together since early in the church's tradition.

Athanasius was born about 296 and became patriarch of Alexandria in 328. Although exiled four times by the efforts of his opponents, he did much to foster the eventual triumph of the doctrine affirmed at the Council of Nicea that Christ is “of one being with the Father”, rather than a more qualified statement of Christ’s divinity. His treatise, On the Incarnation of the Word of God, is still a widely read classic, and his Life of Antony did much to popularise a monastic life-style. He died in 373.

Who is it that conquers the world but the one who believes that Jesus is the Son of God?

1 John 5: 5

The church's tradition that the fourth evangelist was the apostle John cannot be conclusively disproved, but it is safer to deduce what we can about the evangelist from the Gospel itself. The "disciple whom Jesus loved" may have been a witness to certain events of the passion, but is presented as the ideal of oneness with Christ. The actual author of the Gospel seems to represent a Christian community whose Jewish ties have been severed; a community bound together by the reality of Jesus Christ, their whole life constituted and controlled by their believing in him.

SENTENCE

Gregory of Nazianzus in Cappadocia was born about 329. Brilliant and cultured, he longed to spend his days in prayer and philosophical reflection. His ability in defending the Nicene doctrine of Christ's full divinity led others to expect political leadership which he could not give. Made Bishop of Constantinople in 381, Gregory wilted under the political pressures of the office and resigned within the year, seeking solitude near Nazianzus, where he died in 389.

SENTENCE

The mouth of the righteous utters wisdom, and their tongue speaks of that which is right.

Psalms 37: 30

COLLECTS

Gracious God,
you inspired your servant Gregory of Nazianzus
to witness to the truth of the gospel;
grant that we may continue steadfast
in our confession of the faith and constant in our worship of you, Father, Son and Holy Spirit,
one God, now and for ever.

God in Trinity,
we remember with sympathy Gregory of Nazianzus,
theologian and orator,
who, though he did not want to be a bishop,
helped secure the orthodox faith;
help us deal gently
with those who dislike their vocation.

Ruatara, Te Ara mo te Rongopai
The Gateway for the Gospel

May 11

Ruatara, a chief of the Nga Puhi people, became friendly with Marsden in Australia. Ruatara made possible the voyage which culminated in the first official Christian service in New Zealand at Oihi Bay in the Bay of Islands on Christmas Day 1814. Ruatara hoped that the mission would bring technological and other resources for the community to develop. Marsden hoped that Ruatara's hospitality and protection would pave the way for the seeding of a Christian mission. Ruatara then is "Te Ara mo te Rongopai", "The Gateway for the Gospel".

*Samuel Marsden Priest and Missionary
The Apostle of New Zealand*

May 12

Samuel Marsden began the first Christian mission in New Zealand. He was born in 1765 and became chaplain of the penal colony in New South Wales in 1794. There he met and welcomed Maori visitors and conceived the idea of a mission to New Zealand. Having obtained the backing of the Church Missionary Society for his project, Marsden set up the first mission station in New Zealand under the protection of the Nga Puhi chief Ruatara in the Bay of Islands in 1814. Marsden returned to New Zealand on six further visits to oversee the mission. He died on 12 May 1838.

SENTENCE

Turn to me and be saved, all the ends of the earth, says the Lord.

Isaiah 45: 22

Missionary, Priest in Te Arawa

Ihaia Te Ahu of Nga Puhi was one of the earliest of the Maori clergy. He joined Thomas Chapman of the Church Missionary Society in the Bay of Islands as a small boy, and later went with Chapman to Rotorua and then to Maketu in the Bay of Plenty. On Chapman's retirement in 1861 Ihaia was ordained, serving first in Maketu and then in 1882 becoming the first vicar of the Ohinemutu pastorate. Ihaia's godly, patient ministry in complex and challenging circumstances eventually became very influential. He died in 1895.

Ngakuku was a Ngati Haua chief of the Waikato. His links with the gospel began with the missionary education of his daughter Tarore at Matamata. He was baptised on Good Friday 1839. He accompanied Archdeacon A.N. Brown on some missionary journeys and also became a missionary in his own right in the Bay of Plenty, Urewera, and East Coast areas. He was involved in pioneer work in the Opotiki area. After the tragic death of his daughter in a raid in 1836, he was able to forgive those who took her life and encouraged others to do likewise.

Blessed are the peacemakers, for they will be called children of God. Matthew 5: 9

Matthias was chosen by lot to fill Judas' place among the twelve apostles. According to Luke's understanding of apostleship, there had to be twelve true apostles, for they were to be the judges of the twelve tribes of Israel. They had to have been with Jesus throughout his ministry, and they were now to be witnesses of the resurrection. Having been chosen by lot, Matthias was, in effect, chosen by God to make up the Twelve. We know nothing else about him.

Missionary in Ngati Porou

May 15

Piripi Taumata-a-kura of Ngati Porou was responsible for introducing the gospel to his people in the East Cape area in the early 1830s. He had been influenced by the gospel in the north, and on his return had taught and preached, using short prayers and hymns, referring to Bible texts written on scraps of paper. He successfully negotiated restraint based on Christian principles in an inter-tribal battle in 1836. He gained great mana among his people and eventually made the way possible for a missionary training team of nine young Maori from Paihia to carry on his work.

Mother Edith

May 24

Founder of the Community of the Sacred Name Christchurch

Mother Edith was born on 10 March 1861. She was chosen from the Deaconess Community of St Andrew, London, to answer the call of Bishop Churchill Julius of Christchurch for a sister to work in his diocese. She arrived in Christchurch in 1893 to find a small group of dedicated probationer deaconesses ready to form a community. Originally called “The Sisters of Bethany”, they became “The Community of the Sacred Name” in 1911. Mother Edith’s outstanding characteristics were compassion, humility, fearlessness and a loving concern for all. For her nothing was too difficult. She died on 25 May 1922.

SENTENCE

If we love one another God lives in us, and God’s love is perfected in us.

COLLECTS

Everliving God,
we thank you for Mother Edith and the community she founded;
give us grace to love you above all things
and each other in you,
that we may care for those in need
and faithfully sing your praise;
this we ask
in the sacred name of Jesus Christ our Lord.

Jesus, you promise that when two or three of us are gathered in your name, you will be there;
we praise you for Edith,
who left behind all that she loved
to found a community to serve in your name;
you have blessed her sisters greatly,
bless them now, we pray, and into the time ahead.

Teacher of the Faith*

May 25

Bede was born about 673 and, as a boy, was educated first in the monastery at Wearmouth and then at Jarrow, where he remained till his death in 735. He used the extensive library at Jarrow to the full and became the greatest European scholar of his day. He is best known for his Ecclesiastical History of the English People, but wrote extensively on many subjects. The title “Venerable” ascribed to him a century later indicates the respect in which he was held.

SENTENCE

First Archbishop of Canterbury, Missionary

Augustine was sent by Pope Gregory the Great with a team of monks in 596 to establish a mission to the Anglo-Saxons in Britain. They eventually had a Christian centre in Canterbury, and in 597 Augustine was consecrated as the first Archbishop of Canterbury. The conversion of King Ethelbert assured the success of the mission among the Anglo-Saxons, though efforts by Augustine to establish his primacy over the older Celtic church in Britain were unsuccessful. Augustine died in 604 or 605.

Canon Apolo Kivebulaya was the outstanding Ugandan Christian of the first half-century of the church in that land. He was born in 1864 and became a church teacher in the western district of Toro. From his base there he reached out with the gospel of Christ to many people, including the Pygmies of the Congo. He was ordained deacon in 1900, priest in 1903, and was made a canon in 1922. He translated St Mark's Gospel into the Pygmy language and was deeply respected for his devotion to Christ, his humility and love, and his dedication to evangelism. He died on 30 May 1933.

Martyr at Rome

June 1

Justin came from Samaria, where he was born about 100 CE. He found the answer to his searchings for the meaning of life in Christianity, “the true philosophy”. He taught in Rome from about 150. He was one of the first Christians to link Christianity with Greek philosophical ideas. Justin’s writings also give us insights into worship in the early church. He was executed for his faith about 165.

SENTENCE

You Lord are a shield to cover me; you are my glory, and the lifter up of my head.

Psalms 3: 3

COLLECTS

Gracious and eternal God,
in his search for a true philosophy,

The martyrs of Uganda were for the most part young baptised page boys of Mwanga, the king or kabaka (ruler) of Buganda. Both Anglicans and Roman Catholics, in their loyalty to Christ, died without complaint by slow burning or torture on the orders of Mwanga in the years 1885 and 1886. Mwanga identified their Christian faith with disobedience, and saw their allegiance to God as a threat to his absolute authority.

grant that, as they were steadfast in faith
and obedient unto death,
yielding a plentiful harvest,
so may we be encouraged by their example
to witness courageously to your gospel;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Boniface was a British monk from Hampshire. He was born in 675 and spent over thirty years as a missionary to the pagan tribes of northern Europe. The turning point in his work was when he cut down an ancient oak dedicated to Thor and convinced the people of the emptiness of paganism and idolatry. He was appointed Bishop of Mainz in 722 and archbishop ten years later. He was martyred in 754 in northern Frisia as he prepared to baptise and confirm a group of new converts.

SENTENCE

We are heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ if, in fact, we suffer with him so that we may also be glorified with him. Romans 8: 17

COLLECTS

Almighty God,
you sent Boniface to Europe

The Brothers took temporary vows not to marry, not take payment for their work, and to obey their leaders. Under Ini's gifted leadership the order became one of the most significant evangelistic movements in Melanesia. Ini left the Order in 1940 in the early stages of the war and, like many others, became unsettled. He contracted an illness from which he eventually died on 6 June 1945.

SENTENCE

He settled in Italy, where his great learning and ability at preaching were discovered. Very soon he was drawing thousands to his preaching, often on the subjects of usury and avarice. He was successful in bringing back to the church many who had fallen away. Antony died aged only thirty-six in 1231, having worn himself out by his labours.

SENTENCE

My tongue shall sing of your word, O Lord, for all your commandments are just.

Psalms 119: 172

COLLECTS

Everloving God,
by your grace and providence
your servant Antony became a great preacher and a willing helper in time of need;

Basil the Great was born about 330 and became Bishop of Caesarea in Cappadocia in 370. Basil was greatly attracted to the ascetic life, and, as bishop, combined his role in the church with the fostering of the monastic life as an example of community love in action. He helped draw up an influential set of monastic rules, and was a moderating influence in the promotion of the Nicene theology that was finally ratified at Constantinople in 381. Basil died in 379.

SENTENCE

Through her books, retreat addresses and correspondence with those seeking spiritual counsel, Evelyn Underhill helped many to understand the mystical tradition. To her, worship and the varied dimensions of the spiritual life meant beginning with God and being “drawn at His pace and in His way to the place where He wants us to be: not the place we fancied for ourselves”. She died in 1941.

Alban

June 22

First Martyr of Britain

Alban, the first British martyr, was beheaded on the orders of the Roman governor of Verulamium for concealing a Christian priest and then converting to the Christian faith. When soldiers came to arrest the priest, Alban surrendered himself in the priest's place. This is traditionally dated in 304 during the empire-wide persecution of Christians, but it may have been earlier. St Alban's Abbey is near the site of Alban's burial, and the cult of St Alban was popular in Britain for a long time.

SENTENCE

We know love by this; that Christ laid down his life for us - and we ought to lay down our lives for one another. 1 John 3:16

Prophet, Kingmaker

June 23

Wiremu Tamihana's original name was Tarapipi Te Waharoa. He was the second son of the Ngati Haua chief, Te Waharoa. He was deeply influenced by missionary teaching. He created a marae near Matamata which became known for its peaceful Christian witness. He earned the title, "kingmaker", in the creation of the first of the Waikato kings. He tried to mediate during the land wars and negotiated a settlement when they ended. He wrote many letters to colonial authorities advocating a just provision for Maori and Pakeha. He died in 1866.

John was from a priestly family and advocated a return to the strict observance of the laws of Moses in ethical and religious standards. He baptised people as a token of their acceptance of this. John's message was popular with many, but it brought him into conflict with Herod and the rulers of Israel, many of whom followed Gentile customs. John was executed on Herod's orders. Jesus' ministry began with his baptism by John, and many of his followers were former disciples of John.

Irenaeus

June 28

Bishop of Lyons, Teacher of the Faith

Irenaeus was born about 130 in Asia Minor and became Bishop of Lyons in 177. He adopted a conciliatory stance in the disputes over Montanism and over the date of Easter, but devoted enormous energy to refuting Gnosticism. Against the gnostic dualism, Irenaeus set the apostolic tradition and teaching of God as both creator and redeemer, at work in human history for our ultimate fulfilment. Irenaeus died about the year 200.

SENTENCE

What are we mortals, O Lord, that you should be mindful of us? You have made us little less than divine, and crowned us with glory and honour.

St Peter and St Paul
Apostles, Martyrs

June 29

Both St Peter and St Paul are commemorated individually on separate days, Peter on account of his confession of Jesus as the Messiah on 22 February, and Paul on account of his conversion on 25 January. They are commemorated together on 29 June because of their martyrdom in Rome during the Neronian persecution about 64 CE. The basilicas in Rome of St Peter's in the Vatican and St Paul's outside the Walls stand on the traditional sites of their respective burials.

SENTENCE

His gifts were that some should be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, some pastors and teachers, for the equipment of the saints, for the work of ministry, for building up the body of Christ.

St Thomas
Apostle, Martyr

July 3

Thomas the apostle is mentioned only in the lists of apostles in the first three Gospels, but features more significantly at three points in the Fourth Gospel. He urges the disciples to go with Jesus to Judaea, "that we may die with him". In Jerusalem he does not know Jesus' way, and so provides the cue for the announcement that Jesus is the way, the truth and the life. After doubting the resurrection, Thomas is convinced by seeing Jesus alive, and says, "My Lord and my God!" But the truly blessed are those who believe without seeing.

SENTENCE

Jesus said to Thomas, "Have you believed because you have seen me? Blessed are those who have not seen and yet believe."

COLLECTS

Almighty and everliving God,
your Son's resurrection was doubted

July 4

Samuel Azariah was born in 1874 near the southern tip of India. As a young man he was a YMCA evangelist. He became a missionary and then in 1912 the first Indian Anglican bishop. He served the Diocese of Dornakal for over thirty years, during which it grew rapidly. Azariah brought to world missionary and ecumenical conferences his vision that missions should be set free to grow into responsible indigenous churches. He was among those instrumental in the forming of the Church of South India, which finally came into being in 1947, two years after his death.

Thomas More
Scholar

July 6

Thomas More was born in 1478. He was renowned for his charm, wit and integrity, and for his strict spiritual discipline. As lord chancellor of England, he supported Henry VIII's moves to reform the clergy. However, loyal to his Catholic heritage, he consistently opposed Henry's plans for divorce and re-marriage to secure a legitimate heir. More refused to accept the Act of Supremacy in 1535 that declared the king "only supreme head of the Church in England", and was executed for treason on 6 July that year.

Benedict of Nursia
Abbot of Monte Cassino

July 11

Benedict was born in Nursia, Italy, about 480. As a young man he sought to serve God by living in solitude. He soon attracted disciples, and a community grew up around him. When he was about fifty, he moved to Monte Cassino, where he remained abbot for seventeen years. During that time he wrote his rule, which shaped the pattern of monastic life all over Europe and is still observed in the Benedictine Order. The intention of the rule was that by living in humility and obedience monks would learn to love God. Benedict died about the year 550.

SENTENCE

It is good to give thanks to the Lord, to sing praise to your name, O Most High, to tell of your love in the morning and of your faithfulness during the night.

Psalm 92: 1, 2

In Acts he is called Silas, but in several New Testament letters he is referred to as Silvanus, the Greek form of his name. Tradition says he died in Macedonia.

Little is known of Swithun's life. He was chaplain to King Egbert of Wessex, whose son Ethelwulf appointed him Bishop of Winchester in 852. He remained a valued adviser of the king during the Viking invasions. He became famous for his acts of charity and his encouragement of the building of churches. He died in 862 and was buried in the grounds of the cathedral rather than in the cathedral itself as a sign of his identity with the common people.

He strongly supported the Treaty of Waitangi, and was official interpreter at the first signing. He was unfairly criticized by Governor Grey for his land purchases on behalf of his family, but served the Maori people for over forty years until his death in 1867.

Mary Magdalene was one of a group of women from Galilee who were healed by Jesus and supported his cause. Mary is named in all the Gospels as being present at the crucifixion and as a prime witness to the resurrection. This is most movingly represented by John where Mary is the first person to witness to the risen Jesus in the words, "I have seen the Lord." There is no basis for the traditional identification of Mary Magdalene with the sinful woman who anointed Jesus' feet, nor with Mary of Bethany, the sister of Martha.

James and John, Galilean fishermen and sons of Zebedee, were among the first disciples of Jesus, and, with Peter, they became the closest to Jesus. Alone of the disciples they shared with Jesus in the raising of Jairus's daughter, the transfiguration, and Gethsemane. After the resurrection both became important leaders of the early church. James, known as James the Great, was the first apostle to be martyred. According to tradition, after some time with the early church in Jerusalem, John went to Ephesus. The Prayer Book commemorates John as apostle today and as evangelist on 27 December.

July 25

The enormous popularity of Christopher as the patron saint of travellers has if anything increased as travel has become more common. This is so, despite the fact that nothing is known about Christopher except the fact of his death in Asia Minor during the third century. There are many legends about him, the best loved being the story of how he carried a child across a river, and was almost bowed under by the weight. Asking about this, he learned that he had carried the Christ child and the world he had made.

Mother of the Blessed Virgin Mary

Although the New Testament tells us nothing about the family life and background of Mary, a devout second-century Christian sought to supply the lack in a short work that provides the basis for much of the later Mariology. Mary's parents were called Anne and Joachim. They were a pious but childless couple, whose prayers were eventually answered with the birth of Mary, who was brought up in the Temple. The work draws heavily on the early chapters of Matthew and Luke, and on the story of Hannah, the mother of Samuel.

God's faithfulness

His reign shall never end

Blessed are all who put their trust in the Lord.

Mary and Martha of Bethany

July 28

Mary and Martha were sisters living at Bethany near Jerusalem. Jesus readily accepted the hospitality of these women. Whereas Martha is the totally committed hostess, it is more important to be, like Mary, a committed learner. Mary was also the woman who anointed Jesus before his passion, according to John. In the story of the death and raising to life of Lazarus, Martha learns that Jesus is the resurrection and the life.

SENTENCE

You heard the voice of my plea, O God, when I called to you for help.

COLLECTS

Gracious and merciful God,
Jesus was welcomed by Martha and Mary into their home
and found there refreshment and rest;
give us the will to love you,
open our hearts to hear you,
and teach us to serve you in others,
for the sake of Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Jesus our friend, friend of Martha and Mary,
who welcomed you into their home and gave you their love;
give us grace to be loved,
and grace to respond to the love we receive.

Jesus said, "I am the resurrection and the life. Those who believe in me, even though they die, will live." John 11: 25

William Wilberforce and All Social Reformers

July 29

William Wilberforce was born in 1759 and, after studies at Cambridge, entered Parliament in 1780. He was converted to evangelical Christianity in 1784 and became an important spokesman for evangelical ideas. He promoted education, missions and moral reform. The trade in slaves soon drew his attention, and he attacked slavery and the slave trade vigorously. Acts of Parliament in 1807 finally abolished the trade in slaves. It was not until 1833, a month after Wilberforce's death, that the Emancipation Act freed slaves in all British territories. Wilberforce was buried in Westminster Abbey.

SENTENCE

The Lord is near to those who are broken-hearted; the Lord saves those who are crushed in spirit.

Psalms 34: 18

COLLECTS

God of justice,
you raised up your servant William Wilberforce to bring liberty to slaves and captives
and to free the oppressed;
strengthen our resolve to defend the poor and uphold the cause of those who have no helper;
for the sake of Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

Free, eternal Spirit,
you lead us to seek justice for all;
you enabled William and his friends
to win emancipation for slaves;
give us the courage to free those whom our own society enslaves.

Jesus said, "Whoever wishes to be first among you must be slave of all."

Mark 10: 44

We remember and honour today the thousands in Europe who down the centuries have witnessed to the power of the gospel, sometimes at the cost of their lives. There were missionaries inside and outside Europe; there were leaders in the church and in the nations; there were spiritual guides and intellectual leaders; there were monks and friars and women's groups; communities and individuals with power and influence; and there were those who humbly lived out the gospel without leaving a record for the historian. And many of them died for the sake of Christ. "All these were commended for their faith."

SENTENCE

Sing to God you kingdoms of the earth, sing praises to the Lord.

COLLECTS

Gracious and eternal God,
the gospel of your Son has been proclaimed in the nations of Europe
by saints and martyrs from century to century;
empower us by your Spirit
to speak your word to our generation and be your faithful servants;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

God of every century,
we thank you for the saints of Europe,
the humble, devoted, loving believers,
the noble army of missionaries,
the rulers, the serious enquirers,
the explorers, the worshippers,
and the great host watching, working, waiting.

POST-COMMUNION SENTENCE

Jesus said, "Other seed fell into good soil and brought forth grain, growing up and increasing and yielding thirty, sixty and a hundred-fold."
Mark 4: 8

Joseph of Arimathea was a member of the Jewish Council who graciously provided a tomb for the burial of Jesus. He came from the town of Arimathea, north-west of Jerusalem. He was well-to-do and is presented in the Gospels as sympathetic to Jesus' mission, though not an open disciple. These simple facts were later embellished with various legends, including the late medieval story of his journey to Glastonbury with the Holy Grail.

SENTENCE

The righteous are a light in the darkness for the upright; they are gracious, compassionate and just.

COLLECTS

God of mercy and compassion,
your servant Joseph of Arimathea prepared the body of Jesus for burial and provided for it a resting place;
give us courage to take risks in your service and follow Jesus our whole life long;

Chad
Bishop of Lichfield, Missionary

August 2

Chad was born in Northumbria and became a pupil of Aidan at Lindisfarne. He became abbot of Lastingham in Yorkshire in 664. Chad is noted for his humility and his great zeal. He was briefly Bishop of York and then was appointed Bishop of Mercia in 669, with his see at Lichfield. He travelled tirelessly round his vast diocese. He died of the plague in 672.

SENTENCE

All of you must clothe yourselves with humility in your dealings with one another, for "God opposes the proud, but gives grace to the humble."
1 Peter 5: 5

COLLECTS

Gracious God,
you gave to your servant Chad
the gifts of humility, love and holiness;
grant that we who remember his ministry
may grow in the truths he so faithfully lived and spread the light of the gospel;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Jesus of Nazareth,
you went from village to village day by day
to proclaim the kingdom;

St Stephen
The first Christian Martyr

August 3

Stephen was one of the seven appointed to care for the needs of Hellenist widows in the early Jerusalem church. Presumably a Hellenist from the Jewish Dispersion himself, he was challenged by fellow Hellenistic Jews. His speech in Acts chapter seven is less a defence to their charges than a prosecution of the whole Jewish nation for its disobedience to God. In the account of his death, Stephen follows the pattern of the passion of Jesus. If Jesus is the first martyr of the new era, Stephen is the one who stands closest to him in God's heavenly glory.

SENTENCE

Stephen said, "I can see heaven open, and the Son of man standing at the right hand of God."

COLLECTS

Merciful God,
give us grace in all our sufferings for the truth to follow the example of your martyr Stephen,
that we also may look to him who was crucified
and pray for those who persecute us;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

Jesus,
your glory is not in power alone
but even more in suffering and death;
may Stephen's vision
crown our resolution and keep us true;

John Baptist Vianney
Curé d'Ars, Priest

August 4

Jean-Marie-Baptiste Vianney was born in 1786. Despite his academic limitations, he was eventually ordained in 1815. The ravages of the French Revolution meant that few were becoming priests and churches were not well patronised. At the age of thirty he was sent to the parish of Ars. Over the course of time he re-established the life of the parish. Above all he became known for his work in the confessional, where he “read people like a book”. Ars became a centre of pilgrimage, and he was recognised as a living saint. He died in 1859.

SENTENCE

Bless the Lord, you priests of the Lord: sing praise and highly exalt our God for ever.                   Song of the Three Young Men 62 (adapted)

COLLECTS

Everliving God,
you gave to your servant John Vianney gifts of discernment and wise counsel;
grant to all pastors
a full measure of your wisdom and your love, that through their ministry
your truth may be revealed;

Oswald
King of Northumbria, Martyr

August 5

Oswald was one of the early Christian kings in Britain. During a period of exile he stayed at Iona and became a Christian there. In 633 he returned to Northumbria. Seeking to establish Christianity in his kingdom, he appealed to Iona for missionaries. Aidan was sent, and together they achieved the conversion of a large part of the district. Oswald was killed in a battle with Penda of Mercia. The English honoured Oswald as a martyr. He was a popular hero and canonised soon after his death in 642.

SENTENCE

You, O Lord, are king, you are clothed in majesty; you have robed yourself, and put on the girdle of strength.

Psalm 93: 1

COLLECTS

Eternal Lord God,
your servant King Oswald
set up the cross on the field of battle

The Transfiguration of the Beloved Son      August 6

Matthew, Mark, and Luke, with some differences of detail, all record the episode shortly after Peter's great confession of faith, in which Jesus takes Peter, James and John up a mountain and is transfigured as a sign of his divine glory. The presence of Moses and Elijah attests the endorsement by Law and Prophets of Jesus' mission, and the divine voice from the cloud of God's glory confirms the status of Jesus and approves his coming journey to Jerusalem.

SENTENCE

One thing I have asked of the Lord, which I long for: that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to gaze on your beauty O Lord: and to seek you in your temple.      Psalm 27: 4-5

COLLECTS

Jesus, your justice goes beyond the ancient law,
your wisdom embodies all prophetic insight;
make us glad to be yours,
and able to follow you to Jerusalem;
for the glory of your holy name.

God of life and glory,
your Son was revealed in splendour
before he suffered death upon the cross;
grant that we, beholding his majesty,
may be strengthened to follow him
and be changed into his likeness from glory to glory;
for he lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit,
one God now and for ever.

God of glory,
you gave the vision of your Son
to those who watched on the mountain;
grant that by our glimpses of him

“Jesus” is a version of the Hebrew name Yeshua (Joshua), very common among Jews in antiquity. In the gospel story, the weight falls not on Jesus’ circumcision (the sign of the covenant) but on his naming. The name was thought to mean “The Lord saves”; Jesus is to “save his people from their sins”. The name “Jesus” occurs frequently in the New Testament, often, outside the Gospels, in combinations like, “the Lord Jesus”, “Christ Jesus”, or “Jesus Christ”.

SENTENCE

Give thanks to the Lord, call on God’s name; make known the Lord’s deeds among the nations, proclaim that God’s name is exalted.

Isaiah 12: 4 (adapted)

COLLECTS

Merciful God,
you gave your Son Jesus

Dominic
Priest

August 8

Dominic was born in Spain about 1170. He had great sympathy for those critical of the wealth and corruption of the church in Europe at the time. He felt called to preach to those who wanted to abandon the church for the popular but heretical ascetic sects such as the Albigensians and Waldensians. He formed the Order of Preachers, now called the Dominicans, as a group committed to serious study and poverty as necessary tools for the proper preaching of the gospel. He died at Bologna in 1221.

SENTENCE

Your hands have made me and shaped me, O Lord; give me understanding that I may learn your commandments. Psalm 119: 73

COLLECTS

Everloving God,
by your gifts Dominic exercised a ministry of preaching and teaching and established an order to proclaim your gospel;

8 August

Mary MacKillop was born in Melbourne in 1842. She became heavily involved in Catholic education of poor children in South Australia, and in 1867 set up an Order, the Sisters of St Joseph of the Sacred Heart, to further this work. The work expanded rapidly in many parts of Australia, and also in New Zealand where the first school was opened in 1883. The Order was not always popular with the authorities, but flourished nevertheless. Mary suffered a stroke while visiting Rotorua in 1901, but continued to run the Order till her death on 8 August 1909.

SENTENCE

Make known to me your ways, O Lord, and teach me your paths.

Psalms 25: 3

COLLECTS

Gracious God,
you gave to your servant Mary MacKillop
a heart to teach and care for children.
We thank you for the good she and her order have done.
By your grace give us a like compassion for the poor

August 9

Mary Sumner was born in 1828, and in 1876 founded the Mothers' Union in the parish of Alresford. She was inspired by a great vision concerning the Christian responsibilities of motherhood. Mary gathered together women, many young and inexperienced and from different social backgrounds, for weekly classes. During her lifetime Mary Sumner saw the organisation spread throughout Great Britain and overseas and become an important part of the Anglican Communion. She died in 1921.

SENTENCE

There is no Holy One like the Lord, no one besides you: there is no rock like our God.

1 Samuel 2: 2

COLLECTS

Everloving God,
your Son Jesus Christ knew the shelter of a mother's love
and the protection of a mother's prayer;
we thank you for Mary Sumner
and the Mothers' Union she founded;
by your Spirit may your church continue

Laurence
Deacon and Martyr at Rome

August 10

Laurence was one of the seven deacons in Rome during the pontificate of Sixtus II. He died in 258 during the persecution by Valerian. At his trial Laurence was asked to produce the treasures of the church. It is said that he assembled a crowd of poor people amongst whom, as a deacon, he had distributed the church's relief funds, and presented them to the prefect, saying, "These are the treasures of the church." The story of his dying by being roasted on a gridiron is a much later addition to the story.

SENTENCE

August 13

Florence Nightingale was born in 1820. Dissatisfied with her comfortable life, she felt called by God to devote her life to nursing. She gained what little training was then available. She offered her services to the British army on the outbreak of the Crimean War in 1854, and was sent to the military hospital at Scutari in Turkey. Her selfless devotion to her task won her the acclaim of her patients and recognition for social service by women. By the time she died in 1910, nursing had become a valued and honoured profession.

Maximilian Kolbe was a Franciscan priest whose commitment to truth took him to Auschwitz, where he voluntarily sacrificed his life. He was born in 1894. Before the German invasion of Poland in 1939 he had become a leading Catholic publisher and head of a Franciscan house. He was sent to Auschwitz for publishing material critical of the Third Reich. When in August 1941 ten prisoners were condemned to be starved to death in reprisal for a single escape, Kolbe offered to take the place of a family man, who lived to attend Kolbe's canonisation in 1982.

SENTENCE

I called on your name, O Lord, from the depths of the pit. You came near when I called on you; you said, "Do not fear!"

Lamentations 3: 55, 57

COLLECTS

Everloving God,

you chose the blessed virgin Mary
to be the mother of your only Son;
grant that we who have been redeemed by his blood,
may share with her the glory of your eternal kingdom;
through the same Jesus Christ our Lord.

Jesus, your birth is wonderful and your mother is the most beloved woman of all time.
Help all of us who believe in you to honour each other equally,
whatever our gender,
whatever our ability,
whatever our social state may be;
to the honour of your holy name.

POST-COMMUNION SENTENCE

Hail, O favoured one, the Lord is with you! The Holy Spirit will come upon you. Luke 1: 28, 35

The holy women of the Old Testament were examples of many things. Some were victims, like Jephthah's daughter. Some were leaders and prophets, like Huldah, the consultant to King Josiah, Deborah among the judges, and Miriam in the Exodus. In Egypt, Moses and the whole Hebrew people were preserved through the independent actions of women. Women figure also in the period after the exile. In the patriarchal literature of a patriarchal society, however, there are many others whose parts in God's purposes are not recorded.

SENTENCE

You O Lord have robed yourself, and put on the girdle of strength;
holiness adorns your house for ever. Psalm 93: 1, 5

COLLECTS

God of the past and present,
your glory has been revealed in Scripture
in the lives of holy women;
may we, following the example of Deborah and Hannah and all holy women who sought to obey your call,
strive to serve you truly all our lives;
for the sake of our Saviour Jesus Christ.

God, you watched over the Hebrew women
from Sarah to Elizabeth,
and also to Mary who brought Jesus into the world;
help us to build on the good things they have left us.

Brother Roger of Taizé
Encourager of Youth

August 16

Brother Roger was born in Switzerland in 1915. In 1944 he established a community in Taizé committed to the task of reconciliation. He embraced Catholic ideas, but without repudiating his own Protestant tradition. He was joined by others and the community now numbers about 100 members. Taizé became a place of pilgrimage, especially for young people from all over Europe and around the world. Brother Roger shunned publicity, but wrote extensively on spirituality and justice. The musical tradition fostered by Brother Roger at Taizé has found wide acceptance in many places. Brother Roger was tragically killed on 16 August 2005.

SENTENCE

I will sing of your steadfast love for ever, O Lord; my mouth will proclaim your faithfulness from one generation to another. Psalm 89: 1

COLLECTS

God of mercy,
you reconciled us to yourself in Christ;
and of that good news
your servant Brother Roger was a passionate witness in and through the community at Taizé;
help us to follow his example
of renewing trust in one another and in you, that together we may join in harmony to sing your praises;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

Jesus,
you brought reconciliation through your cross,
and at Taizé Brother Roger sang, lived and prayed that way of life.
Mould us to do likewise.

Bernard of Clairvaux
Abbot, Poet

August 20

Bernard was born in 1090 and at 22 joined the Cistercian Order. His remarkable dedication and gifts of leadership soon became apparent. In 1115 he established the abbey of Clairvaux. From there he had a profound influence on the whole of Europe. Bernard preached with immense energy and power. A strong defender of Christian values, he had a clear grasp of theological issues, though his criticism of others was sometimes unfair, and his advocacy of the disastrous Second Crusade made him unpopular in some quarters. His contribution to monasticism has been lasting. He died in 1153.

SENTENCE

The path of the righteous is like the light of dawn, which shines brighter and brighter until full day. Proverbs 4: 18

COLLECTS

Holy and merciful God,
through your Son, the world's true light,
you called Bernard to a passionate zeal for your truth;
enable us to use our gifts for the good of all,
and fire us with a spirit of love and discipline;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Rose of Lima
Mystic

August 23

Rose was the first canonised saint of the Americas. She was born in 1586 in Lima to parents of Spanish descent. She had an ardent love of God and, reckoning that anything that might endanger that love must be rooted out of her life, she imposed upon herself severe austerity and mortification. Objections and ridicule from her family and friends did nothing to dissuade her. In the last years of her life Rose cared for homeless children, the elderly and the sick. She died at the age of 31 in 1617.

SENTENCE

Those who trust in the Lord are like Mount Zion, which cannot be shaken but stands for ever.

COLLECTS

Merciful God,
for love of you
Rose of Lima took up the cross and embraced suffering;
may we learn from her
to regard material possessions lightly and to show the radiance of your love to all we meet;

*St Bartholomew (Nathanael)
the Apostle*

August 24

The Calendar in the Prayer Book assumes that Bartholomew and Nathanael are one and the same. The identification is probable but not certain. About Bartholomew we know nothing other than his name in various lists of apostles in the first three Gospels and Acts. Nathanael, mentioned only by John, was brought to Jesus by Philip and becomes symbolic of an Israelite worthy of the name, who will see the hopes of Israel fulfilled in Jesus. Nathanael appears again in the resurrection episode beside Lake Galilee.

SENTENCE

What we preach is not ourselves, but Jesus Christ as Lord, with ourselves as your servants for Jesus' sake. 2 Corinthians 4: 5

COLLECTS

Almighty God,
grant that as the apostle Bartholomew truly believed
and preached the word of life, so now your Church may continually hear and proclaim
the gospel of Jesus Christ,
to the glory of your name.

Bestow upon us, Lord,
the grace of the honest and open heart
which you gave to Bartholomew,
so that we may rightly discern the truth and willingly believe in your Son Jesus Christ.
Hear this prayer for your love's sake.

Monica
Mother of Augustine of Hippo

August 27

Monica was born in North Africa about 331, and is principally remembered as the mother of Augustine. She was a devout Christian, who exercised considerable influence not only on her son, but also on her husband, who required tactful handling, but whom she eventually brought into the church. As a widow, Monica pursued Augustine to Italy and shared deeply in the worship of the church in Milan under Bishop Ambrose and in her son's conversion and baptism. Monica and Augustine returned to North Africa in 387, but Monica died en route at Ostia.

SENTENCE

I waited patiently for you O Lord, and you bent down to me and heard my cry.

COLLECTS

Gracious and loving God,
you rewarded Monica's continuing love
and persevering prayers
with the conversion of her son Augustine;
grant that we may learn to love without faltering
and pray without ceasing,
so that we may attain the vision of your glory;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

God of the widow
who would not take "No" for an answer,
as we honour Monica
who prayed for her son, year in, year out,

Augustine
Bishop of Hippo, Teacher of the Faith

August 28

Augustine, the most influential figure of the early church in the west, was born in North Africa in 354. His search for truth led him eventually to acceptance of costly discipleship. He was baptised in Milan in 387 and returned to North Africa, becoming Bishop of Hippo in 395. His Confessions is a classic spiritual autobiography, and his City of God shaped western thinking about the meaning of historical events. Augustine also wrote extensively on grace against those who looked for visible evidence in themselves or the church of their standing before God. He died in 430.

SENTENCE

Glorious things are spoken of you, Zion, city of our God. Singers and dancers alike shall proclaim, "In you all find their home."

COLLECTS

Gracious and everloving God,
the end of all our searching,
you gave to your servant Augustine gifts of heart and mind
to seek after you and to serve you;
grant us in our pilgrimage here on earth
to walk in the light of your truth, and at the last to rest in you
and know you as you are;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Gracious, reconciling God,
you gave comfort to Augustine,
wrestling with his sense of sin;
give us confidence to believe your creation is good,

Our citizenship is in heaven, and it is from there that we are expecting a Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ.                    Philippians 3: 20

The Calendar provides for a general commemoration of John the Baptist on 24 June, and on 29 August for a particular commemoration of his death at the hands of Herod Antipas. John's call to repentance and his message of God's coming judgement had connotations of messianic claims that Herod found extremely worrying. John was eventually the victim of Herodias's anger at his criticism of her marriage to Herod.

SENTENCE

Deliverance is at hand for those who fear you, O Lord, so that your glory may dwell in our land.

COLLECTS

Just and merciful God,
you called John the Baptist to witness to your commands,
even at the cost of his life;
give us courage to contend for justice
and to speak for the oppressed to the end;

Aidan

August 31

Aidan was a monk from Iona who went to Northumbria in 635 in response to the invitation of King Oswald. Aidan became Bishop of Lindisfarne, a small island where he established a monastery. From there, accompanied by Oswald, he launched his mission in Northumbria. His gentleness and Celtic asceticism, as well as his deep concern for the poor, drew people to Christ. By his own example, he taught the value of prayer, the need to meditate on the Scriptures, and the importance of education. He died in 651.

SENTENCE

COLLECTS

Gracious God,
we thank you for the gifts of gentleness,
simplicity and strength,
by which your servant Aidan won many to your gospel;
increase your gifts in us,
that we may be true to our calling and to fulfil the commission of Jesus Christ our Lord.

and for that we give you thanks.

The Builders of the Anglican Church    September 1 in Aotearoa, New Zealand and Polynesia

While the Calendar commemorates by name the most important and well known figures of the Anglican Church in Aotearoa, New Zealand and Polynesia, there are many others who have contributed to the building up of the church. Their efforts in their day, from the beginning of the nineteenth century till today are remembered with gratitude and heartfelt thanksgiving.

SENTENCE

Call to remembrance O Lord your tender care and the unfailing love which you have shown from of old. Psalms 25: 5

COLLECTS

Everlasting God,
your messengers have carried the good news of Christ
to the ends of the earth;

The Martyrs of Papua New Guinea      September 2

When the Second World War came to Papua New Guinea, the Anglican bishop, Philip Strong, expressing the general feeling amongst the mission staff, urged missionaries to stay with their people. Most of them from all the church missions did. Some survived the war, but 272 Christians died. These included 12 Anglicans, who are especially commemorated by the Anglican Church today. They died in various incidents in Papua New Guinea, the largest group being beheaded on the beach at Buna.

SENTENCE

When I am afraid O God most high, I will put my trust in you.

COLLECTS

Loving God,
we thank you for the martyrs of Papua New Guinea,
who remained faithful in their ministry

Albert Schweitzer
Medical Missionary, Theologian

September 4

Albert Schweitzer was born in Germany in 1875 and educated at Berlin and Paris. He was a brilliant musician, philosopher, theologian and author, who in 1913 put aside an assured life of fame and fortune in Europe to go to West Africa as a medical missionary. There he established a hospital at Lambaréné based on the pattern of an African village. Apart from an interlude in Europe during and after the First World War, and later visits to Europe, he worked for the remainder of his life in Equatorial Africa. He died in 1965.

SENTENCE

In 1948 founded her own order, the Missionaries of Charity. For the rest of her life Mother Teresa ministered to the poor, sick, orphaned, and dying in Calcutta. She was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1979. She was widely admired as an advocate for the destitute. Following her death on 5 September 1997 she was beatified by the pope and given the title, Blessed Teresa of Calcutta.

SENTENCE

You are my helper and deliverer; make no long delay, O my God.

Psalm 40: 22

September 6

Charles Elliot Fox was born in 1878 and joined the Melanesian Mission in 1902. He served with the mission in various capacities for over seventy years. He was a man of scholarship, courage, generosity of spirit, and humility, and his influence on the education and spiritual life of Melanesia was unequalled. His work among the villages during World War II was legendary. He wrote on Melanesian culture and history, and did much translation work. His sense of identity with the Melanesian people was marked by his spending eleven years as a member of the Melanesian Brotherhood. He died in 1977.

SENTENCE

As for you, always be sober, endure suffering, do the work of an evangelist, carry out your ministry fully.                    2 Timothy 4: 5

Much of the evangelistic spreading of the gospel in the Pacific has been done by the Pacific peoples themselves. Under the leadership of the great European missionaries of both the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, the Christian message has been first accepted and then spread by the peoples of the Pacific. From Papua New Guinea to Tahiti, from Australia to Hawaii, from Micronesia to New Zealand, the good news has been proclaimed. Surrounded by a great cloud of witnesses, we rejoice in their memory and pray that we will follow their examples.

SENTENCE

The Church has honoured Mary, the mother of Jesus, from the beginning. Then the debates of the fourth century about the full humanity of Christ led to an enhanced celebration of Mary, including her birth, even though nothing reliable is known about her birth or family. The feast of Mary's birth was widely observed in the church, and was retained in the Book of Common Prayer.

SENTENCE

Almighty God,
in the passion of your blessed Son
you made an instrument of shameful death
to be for us the means of life;
grant us so to glory in the cross of Christ
that we may gladly suffer for his sake,
who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit,
one God now and for ever.

Jesus, crucified and risen,
you have turned a criminal's cross
into release and reconciliation.
Let us who are marked with the cross
be not ashamed to witness to you;
for the glory of your holy name.

POST-COMMUNION SENTENCE

Jesus said, "When I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw all people to myself."

Ninian
Bishop in Galloway, Missionary

September 16

Ninian was the first British missionary to devote himself to work among the pagan Picts of southern Scotland. He established a monastic community at Whithorn, along the lines of the communities established by Martin of Tours, whom Ninian admired. He was Bishop of southern Scotland, north of the Roman wall. Ninian died at Whithorn about 432.

SENTENCE

“See, I am going to bring them from the land of the north, and gather them from the furthest parts of the earth,” says the Lord.

COLLECTS

God of the farthest reaches of the earth,
where there is darkness you shed light,
where there is oppression, grace;
we praise you for your servant Ninian,
pioneer of the gospel
among his own people in the British Isles;
kindle in us a gospel fire
to carry your light and grace
to every part of our land;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

God of the great and marvellous idea,
may we, like Ninian, who went out to convert the Scots,
set ourselves goals which are a worthy offering to you.

Hildegarde of Bingen
Mystic, Religious

September 17

Hildegarde of Bingen was born in 1098 and became abbess of a Benedictine women's community. She was remarkably gifted in many fields: abbess, prophet, theologian and reformer, composer, artist and scientist. In her lifetime she was famed as a healer and spiritual counsellor. Later generations revered her fiery apocalyptic preaching. Today many find attractive her gift of holistic vision and her unflinching quest for justice. She died in 1179.

SENTENCE

I will now call to mind the works of the Lord, and will declare what I have seen.

COLLECTS

Creator Spirit,
your word is living, being, all-verdant greening, manifesting in every creature;

Theodore of Tarsus
Archbishop of Canterbury

September 19

Theodore was sixty-six years of age and a monk from Tarsus living in Italy when he was sent to England as the new Archbishop of Canterbury. The church was in disarray and dispirited, but by the time Theodore died in 690 it was well organised and confident, thanks to his wisdom and reforming zeal. He was renowned as a scholar, educationist, lover of music and administrator. He did much to resolve the differences in the English church between the older Celtic traditions and the newer Roman ones.

SENTENCE

Keep steady my footsteps, O God, according to your promise.

COLLECT

God of all truth,

John Coleridge Patteson
First Bishop of Melanesia
Martyr

September 20

John Coleridge Patteson was born in 1827 and came to New Zealand to assist Bishop Selwyn. He was put in charge of the Melanesian Mission. As its bishop from 1861, he opened up the islands to the gospel, and educated Melanesians to be priests and evangelists. He was a brilliant linguist, and did much to further the work of the mission by his warmth and modest charm. His murder on the island of Nukapu on 20 September 1871 was at the hands of people for whom he would gladly have given his life.

SENTENCE

In the day of my distress I will call, O Lord, and surely you will answer me.

Psalm 86: 7

Saint Matthew
Apostle, Evangelist

September 21

Matthew's name appears in lists of the twelve apostles of Jesus. According to Matthew's Gospel, Matthew was a tax collector, though Mark and Luke call the tax collector Levi. According to Luke, when he became a follower of Jesus, Levi or Matthew held a feast in Jesus' honour. Nothing else is known for certain about Matthew. The Gospel that bears his name may originate from a church associated with him, but it owes much also to other proclamations of the gospel message.

SENTENCE

Bishop, first Archbishop of New Zealand

Churchill Julius was born in England in 1847. His background was evangelical. After studies at Oxford and various positions in England he became archdeacon of Ballarat in Australia in 1884. He became Bishop of Christchurch in 1890 and developed a strong reputation as an eloquent defender of the rights of workers. He described himself as a Christian Socialist. He was a champion of the role of women in the church. He became primate in 1922, the first in New Zealand to be termed “archbishop”. He retired in 1925 and died in 1938.

SENTENCE

The Anglican Church in Melanesia has an honourable roll of those who have given their lives for their faith, including both Melanesian and European Christians. The best known is Bishop Patteson, but there were others. Native Christians such as Fisher Young, Edwin Nobbs, Arthur Ako, James Ivo, Ben Teilo, and Stephen Taroaniara, as well as Europeans such as Joseph Atkin and Charles Godden are remembered with pride, and serve as examples to the church. In 2003, Robin Lindsay, the assistant head and six other members of the Melanesian Brotherhood were killed by guerrillas during a period of civil unrest.

SENTENCE

I took you from the ends of the earth, says the Lord your God, and called you from its farthest corners. Isaiah 41: 9

COLLECTS

Creator God,
whose majesty is in the storm as well as in the calm,
we thank you for those of every race who gave their lives in Melanesia
for the sake of Christ;
may your church always proclaim your gospel,
live your commandments,
and overcome the powers of darkness;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

God, you call us, your missionaries,
to carry our lives in our hands;
we praise you for your many servants in Melanesia whose lives were taken by those for whom they would gladly have given them.

Michael is one of the three angels named in the Bible (the others are Gabriel and Raphael). In popular, late Jewish and early Christian devotion Michael became identified as the heavenly champion who would lead the hosts of heaven in triumph and vindicate the saints of God. There are numerous churches dedicated to St Michael and All Angels.

SENTENCE

I looked, and heard around the throne and the living creatures and the elders the voices of many angels, numbering myriads of myriads and thousands of thousands. Revelation 5: 11

Jerome

September 30

Priest, Teacher of the Faith Translator of the Scriptures

Jerome was born in northern Italy about 347. He was attracted to the monastic life and promoted it vigorously. He was a skilled linguist and was asked to translate the Bible into Latin from Hebrew and Greek. He established a monastery in Bethlehem in 382 and from there wrote the translation of Scripture as well as many commentaries, sermons and letters. Much of his translation of Scripture was incorporated in what became known as the Vulgate Bible. His belligerent style led him into many quarrels, but his gifts of scholarship were outstanding. He died in 420.

SENTENCE

How sweet are your words to my taste, O Lord, sweeter than honey in my mouth. Psalms 119: 103

COLLECTS

Everliving God,
we give you thanks for your servant Jerome,
who with zealous care
translated the Scriptures;
and we pray that through your Spirit
the words we read may show us Christ the living word and shape our discipleship in his name;

Suzanne Aubert
Religious, Social Reformer

October 1

Suzanne Aubert was born in France in 1835 and arrived in New Zealand in 1860. Her work with Maori, for whom she developed a profound love, took her from Auckland to Meeanee near Napier and then to Jerusalem on the Wanganui River. She later moved to Wellington and remained there until her death in 1926, apart from nursing the wounded in Europe during the First World War. The order she founded, The Daughters of Our Lady of Compassion, opened homes for the incurably ill and handicapped children and provided nursing services for many.

SENTENCE

The Lord cares for the stranger in the land, and sustains the widows and orphans.

POST-COMMUNION SENTENCE

Beloved, let us love one another, because love is from God; everyone who loves is born of God and knows God.                    John 4: 7

The idea that each person has a guardian angel is a very ancient, popular one in both pagan and Jewish tradition. It can be seen in Jesus' reference to the angels who watch over children and also in Peter's escape from prison in Acts 12. The idea was given much more formal definition in the Middle Ages, and a special day was given to the guardian angels in 1670.

SENTENCE

Francis of Assisi
Friar

October 4

Francis of Assisi was born in 1181. After a relatively frivolous life, he rejected everything he had received from his father and embraced poverty totally. Gradually others gathered round him, and he began preaching tours around Italy. He prepared a simple rule of life for his followers, and the Order of Friars Minor was born. The order grew rapidly and spread all over Europe and beyond. Francis combined in his life many strands: mission preacher, lover of animals, ascetic, mystic, dramatic fool for Christ, happy singer, troubadour of God. He died in 1226 and was canonised two years later.

SENTENCE

Let the whole creation bless the Lord; praise and exalt our God for ever.
Song of the Three Young Men 35 (adapted)

COLLECTS

Gracious and merciful God,
you kindled in the heart of Francis such a flame of love
that he became wholly yours;
increase in us a wholehearted trust in you
and a humble love of all your creatures, that we may know the joy the gospel brings;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

Asia is the birthplace of Christianity, and many of its finest seeds have flowered in that continent. Evangelism, the creeds, monasticism, the ecumenical movement, martyrdom, and patient witness are all to be found in the stories of the churches of that large and diverse continent. From the churches of Asia Minor and the Middle East, dating back to New Testament times, to missionaries in India, China, and Japan and the indigenous churches now there and throughout the whole region, there have come many faithful witnesses.

William Tyndale
Translator of the Scriptures, Martyr

October 7

Tyndale was born in Gloucestershire about 1494. The translation of the Bible into contemporary English became his life's passion. Church opposition at home led him to settle on the continent. From there thousands of copies of the New Testament and some Old Testament books were secretly circulated in England. At last his enemies had him arrested, and he was strangled and burned at the stake in 1536, not for his work of translation, but for doctrines considered heretical. His last words were, "Lord, open the king of England's eyes."

SENTENCE

Patron Saint of Sweden

October 8

Bridget of Sweden was born about 1303. After some years of marriage, during which she bore eight children, Bridget was widowed in 1344. She then began a life of solitude and contemplation. She disliked intensely the misuse of power, and corresponded with popes and princes in her efforts for reform. She was the founder of a monastery in Sweden for men and women, the order known as the Brigittines. After 1349 she lived in Rome and devoted herself to charitable works and pilgrimages until her death in 1373.

October 9

Robert Grosseteste was born about 1175 in Suffolk, and was educated at Oxford and Paris Universities. He taught at Oxford University and was master of the Oxford Franciscans. In 1235 he became Bishop of Lincoln. He strove to reform monastic corruption, and struggled against papal appointments of Italians to rich English livings and against royal interference in the English church. His theological writings are striking for their penetrating metaphors and similes, and he played a significant part in the early development of scientific method at Oxford. He died in 1253.

SENTENCE

O send out your light and your truth to lead me: and bring me to your holy hill and to your dwelling. Psalm 43: 3

COLLECTS

God our ruler and guide,
your servant Robert Grosseteste
was a faithful pastor and teacher of your church;
may we in your light see light
and in your will find our peace,
that we may grow up together in Christ,
to the glory of your holy name.

Jesus Christ, light of the world,
revealed to your servant Robert;
may we, like him,
bring to light society's corruption,
and do all we can to heal it.

Elizabeth Fry
Prison Reformer

October 12

Elizabeth Fry was born in Norwich in 1780. She was a member of the Society of Friends, and her deep religious faith found a practical outlet in her lifelong commitment to prison reform. Her daily visits to women prisoners in Newgate gaol enabled her to see for herself the degradation they suffered. She began a campaign for reform, which was instrumental in bringing about change. She was also involved in the establishment of a “Nightly Shelter for the Homeless”, and before her death in 1845 she founded a society for the care and rehabilitation of former offenders.

SENTENCE

Because of the blood of my covenant with you, says the Lord, I will set your prisoners free from the waterless pit. Zechariah 9: 11

COLLECTS

Gracious and loving God,
you bring good tidings to the afflicted,
bind up the broken-hearted,
and proclaim liberty to the captives;
we thank you for sending Elizabeth Fry into the prisons with words of comfort and deeds of care:
grant that all who minister to those in prison
may be filled with your compassion and be bearers of your hope;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

Blessed are you, Jesus our good shepherd,
in Elizabeth your minister.
Year after year she visited women
in prisons and asylums.
May we too understand and care for people unconditionally.

Teresa of Avila
Teacher of the Faith

October 15

Teresa of Avila was born in 1515 and became a significant contributor to the movement for the reform of religious houses in the sixteenth century. She joined a typically lax convent at the age of 20. After a profound religious experience in 1555, she established her own much stricter house in 1562, despite strong opposition. She went on to found other reformed Carmelite houses. She also made a profound contribution to understanding the spiritual life, being the first to describe in detail the states from meditation to the so-called mystical marriage. She died in 1582.

SENTENCE

I, wisdom, was daily God's delight, rejoicing before God always; rejoicing in the inhabited world, and delighting in the human race.

Proverbs 8: 30, 31 (adapted)

COLLECTS

Gracious and eternal God,

The English Reformers and Martyrs

October 16

In 1555 Mary Tudor tried to confirm the return of England to the Catholic fold by executing a number of leading Protestants. In fact this action, more than anything else, undermined Mary's popularity, gave the Protestant cause a heroic status, and left a lasting legacy of anti-Catholic bigotry in England for many years. The most prominent of these martyrs were Nicholas Ridley, Bishop of London, and Hugh Latimer, Bishop of Worcester, both of whom were burned at Oxford on 16 October 1555.

SENTENCE

The Lord God helps me; therefore I have not been disgraced; therefore I have set my face like flint, and I know that I shall not be put to shame.

COLLECTS

Everliving God,

October 17

We know little about Ignatius other than what can be gleaned from the seven letters he wrote to churches in Asia Minor while on his way to martyrdom in Rome about 107. The letters show a passionate yearning to follow the way of Jesus, even to death. Ignatius also placed great emphasis on the unifying authority of the bishop as a way of avoiding divisive conflicts over Christian teaching.

Philippians 1: 20

Luke was a physician, beloved by Paul, and a Gentile, and once, it seems, his only companion in prison. Since the end of the second century, tradition has recognised him as the author of the anonymous third Gospel and the Acts of the Apostles. Luke-Acts is the story of the gospel's transition from Jerusalem to Rome, from the source of our religious heritage to the heart of the imperial world; it is a gospel for all, especially the disadvantaged. Jesus and his followers are presented as examples for the lives of all believers.

SENTENCE

Tarore, the daughter of Ngakuku, the Ngati Haua chief, attended the mission station at Matamata and learned to read. Tragically, on 19 October 1836, at the age of twelve, she was killed during a raid. Her father preached forgiveness at her tangi. The Gospel of Luke that was with her was taken by one of the raiding party, who was subsequently converted and made peace with Ngakuku. Later it was taken to Otaki, where its message led to the conversion of Tamihana Te Rauparaha, who became a missionary to the South Island.

Henry Martyn was born in Truro in 1781 and studied at St John's College, Cambridge. There his acquaintance with Charles Simeon awakened his interest in missionary work. He went to Calcutta as a chaplain of the East India Company in 1805. He is remembered for his work in translating the New Testament into Hindi, Persian and Arabic, the psalms into Persian and parts of the Book of Common Prayer into Hindi. He went to Persia to revise the Persian translation. He suffered from tuberculosis and died in 1812 in Armenia on his way back to Britain.

There is no good reason to doubt that James was the son of Mary and Joseph. He came to believe in his brother soon after the resurrection at the latest. One of the reputed pillars of the church in Jerusalem, he became the leader of a college of presbyters there. He upheld the principle that Jewish Christian believers should continue to observe the Jewish Law, but his views were sufficiently liberal that in 62 CE he was stoned to death on a charge brought by the high priest of violating the Mosaic Law.

After the wars he set about rebuilding his kingdom and reforming the church. Alfred gave to his people the Gospels in the Saxon language. He is remembered as a king who worked his hardest to encourage education for his clergy and his nobles. He gave them an example in the pattern of his own life as a Christian king. He died in 899.

Simon and Jude were both members of the Twelve. Simon is described as a Zealot, but it is not clear whether that is a reference to his membership of what later became a nationalistic faction before he was converted, or a reference to his zeal for the Law, or even for the kingdom of God. Jude is traditionally regarded as the author of the letter of Jude, but this identification is not certain. According to tradition, Simon and Jude were martyred together in Persia.

It is easy to miss the importance of women in the ministry of Jesus and in the early church. Some women are known to us by name; many are anonymous. Women followed Jesus in his ministry and supported his work. Women were present at the crucifixion, when all the apostles had fled, and women were the first to proclaim the resurrection. Romans chapter 16 offers rich evidence of the role of women in the early church, which is also visible elsewhere in the New Testament. They bore apostolic witness to the gospel and suffered for the faith.

Philippians 4: 3 (adapted)

Although in the New Testament “saints” refers to all Christians, the church soon gave special honour to the heroes of the faith, especially martyrs. In the early church, a feast commemorating all martyrs seems to have been observed in association with Pentecost. The extension of the feast to include all the saints and its observance on 1 November emerged some time in the eighth century. The feast allows us to express our sense of communion with all those who have gone before us, whether known or unknown, who have witnessed to their faith in Christ.

SENTENCE

These are they who have put off mortal clothing and have put on

In the New Testament “the saints” means “Christian believers”, that is, all members of the church. Gradually the term “saint” came to mean the heroes of the faith, and that was how All Saints’ Day on 1 November was eventually regarded. Odilo, the abbot of Cluny in the first half of the eleventh century, provided for the commemoration of all the departed on 2 November, and this Benedictine tradition spread throughout the church. The feast was abolished in England at the Reformation, but has been restored to many Anglican calendars as a general commemoration of the faithful departed.

Hooker died as parish priest of Bishopsbourne near Canterbury in 1600.

SENTENCE

The law of the Lord is perfect, refreshing the soul; the precepts of the Lord are right, and rejoice the heart. Psalm 19: 7, 8

COLLECTS

God of truth and peace,
you gave to your servant Richard Hooker gifts of learning and charity
to defend the Anglican way;
may we and all
who seek to understand your ways
be enlightened by your Spirit of truth and love;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Patient God,
give us Richard's willingness to offer reason
in the place of controversy and distortion;
give us respect for those with whom we disagree,
and moderation in conflict.

Te Whiti o Rongomai
Prophet

November 6

Te Whiti o Rongomai was born at Ngamotu near New Plymouth, about 1831. He was educated by missionaries and developed an intense love of the Bible. During the turbulent 1860s he sought a peaceful means of fostering Maori claims. At Parihaka he built a model community, and after the war encouraged his people to resist peacefully the unjust occupation of confiscated land. This led to conflict with the government. On 5 November 1881 armed constabulary entered Parihaka. They were met by children chanting songs. Te Whiti was arrested and imprisoned without trial for a year. He died in 1907.

Willibrord
Archbishop of Utrecht, Missionary

November 7

Willibrord was born in Northumbria in 658. During studies in Ireland he developed an enthusiasm for missionary work. In 690 he went with some others to Frisia, and in 695 was made bishop of the region, with his centre at Utrecht. His patient laying of foundations was the beginning of a century of English missionary work in Europe. He founded monasteries and appointed bishops to new dioceses and did much to establish the church on a sound base in the face of pagan opposition. He died in 739.

SENTENCE

The faithful will abide with the Lord in love, because grace and mercy are upon God's holy ones.

Wisdom 3: 9

of the Anglican Communion*

November 8

The exciting thing about the Anglican Communion has been its emergence out of the national Church of England into a world-wide fellowship involving people of widely different origins and cultures. In the four hundred years or so in which the modern Anglican tradition has existed, God has changed the Church beyond recognition. In the process of growth and development, the Anglican Communion has produced its own heroes, who have borne witness to Christ, sometimes at the cost of their life.

SENTENCE

The Lord is our God; we are the Lord's people, the flock that God shepherds.

COLLECTS

God of all the earth,
we praise you for those of our Anglican heritage who have borne witness to Christ
in life and in death;
strengthen us to build well
on the foundations they have laid,
that your name may be glorified
in all the world;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Holy Spirit, ever living, ever new and unexpected,
we remember with pride and affection
those who by their lives and by their deaths have served our Anglican Communion;
help us in our turn to follow you wherever you send us.

Leo the Great

November 10

Bishop of Rome, Teacher of the Faith

Leo the Great was elected Bishop of Rome in 440 and brought great skills of care and administration to the papal office. At a time when the western Roman Empire was disintegrating, he provided a central focus for decisions of the church in the west. He administered the resources of the church well and negotiated with the invading Huns and Vandals to ensure peace and stability in Rome. His letter to the eastern church on the person of Christ was accepted at Chalcedon as a helpful and orthodox statement. He died in 461.

SENTENCE

“My grace is sufficient for you,” says the Lord, “for power is made perfect in weakness.” 2 Corinthians 12: 9 (adapted)

COLLECTS

Gracious and eternal God,
you called your servant Leo

Martin
Bishop of Tours

November 11

Martin was born about 316. Like his father, he joined the army, but found this incompatible with his Christian commitment. The story of his cutting his cloak in two to share with a beggar comes from this period of his life. He was attracted to the monastic life, and established monasticism in Gaul as a means of converting the countryside. In 372 he was made Bishop of Tours, a position he held till his death in 397. He became an extremely popular saint in the Middle Ages and a patron saint of France.

SENTENCE

The word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword.

COLLECTS

Everloving God,
you called Martin from military service
to be a bishop in your church;
may we, following the example of his compassion,
care for the needy
and deal gently with all people,
that we may be clothed with righteousness;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

Jesus of Nazareth, thank you for Martin,
the soldier who shared his cloak with a beggar,

Charles Simeon
Cambridge, Priest

November 12

Charles Simeon was born in Reading in 1759 and was educated at Eton and Cambridge. After a conversion experience in 1779, he became the leading evangelical of his day. Overcoming initial hostility, he became a very influential preacher at Holy Trinity, Cambridge, where he was vicar from 1783 till his death in 1836. His preaching, writing and pastoral zeal caused many to win others for Christ. He was a founder of the Church Missionary Society, and a frequent adviser on chaplaincies to the growing British overseas interests, especially in India.

SENTENCE

With my whole heart I seek you, O Lord; let me not stray from your commandments.

Psalm 119: 10

COLLECTS

Merciful and gracious God,
you gave Charles Simeon such a love for souls
that he preached and laboured fervently,
so that all might come to their true home;
so fill our hearts and minds with your goodness,
that we may be one with you at all times,

Margaret Queen of Scotland

November 16

Queen Margaret was a descendant of Anglo-Saxon royalty that sought refuge during the Danish and Norman invasions of England. She was born in Hungary in 1046 and finally went to Scotland, where she married Malcolm III in 1070. She set about reforming the church in Scotland. Her husband, realising her ability, increasingly turned to her for advice. She was a devout and conscientious parent and famous for her care of orphans and poor people. She also established schools, hospitals and orphanages, and rebuilt the monastery of Iona. She died in 1093 and was buried at Dunfermline Abbey.

SENTENCE

My song is of mercy and justice; to you, O Lord, I will sing.

Psalms 101: 1

COLLECTS

God, our eternal ruler,
as Queen Margaret of Scotland rejoiced to be your subject, aided your church, and succoured the poor,
make us ready to seek your kingdom before all else,
and to be fruitful in good works;

Hilda
Abbess of Whitby

November 17

Hilda was born in 614. She was baptised at the age of 13 and eventually sought a monastic life when she was 33. Bishop Aidan, impressed by her holiness, made her an abbess, and in 657 she established her own monastery at Whitby. It was for both men and women, and, under Hilda, became famous for its devotion and study. She was widely sought after for her advice. It was at Whitby that the synod was held in 664 at which it was decided that the English church would follow the Roman traditions rather than the Celtic ones. Hilda died in 680.

SENTENCE

We are treated as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing everything. 2 Corinthians 6: 10

COLLECTS

Strong, sovereign God,
you build your church through women and men who hear and heed your call;
we praise you for Hilda
and her leadership in the British church:
inspiring its bishops,
educating its children,
and shaping its religious life;
give us grace also to dedicate our lives to your service
in undiminished devotion and firm faith;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Living Spirit,

opening her abbey for both women and men,
you brought her to accept defeat in synod cheerfully;
you make us better than our best.

Hugh
Bishop of Lincoln

November 18

Hugh was born about 1140 in Burgundy. He became a Carthusian monk and in 1175 took charge of the Carthusian house at Witham in Somerset. In 1186 he became Bishop of Lincoln and died there in 1200. He revived schools in the diocese and restored and enlarged the cathedral. Hugh was renowned for his humility, tact and strength of character. He upheld the rights of the poor, even against the king when necessary. He built a hospital for lepers and visited the poor. All his life Hugh loved birds and at Lincoln he was famous for his pets.

SENTENCE

The Lord is the light of my salvation, whom then shall I fear? The Lord is the stronghold of my life, of whom then shall I be afraid?

Psalm 27: 1

COLLECTS

Holy and eternal God,
you gave to your servant Hugh gifts of wisdom and cheerful boldness;
grant that we may without fear

In 1227 her husband died on the way to the crusades, and Elizabeth was thrown out of the court. She became a Franciscan tertiary, but her spiritual adviser took an almost sadistic delight in disciplining her. She continued to devote herself to the poor of Marburg, but died in 1231 at the age of 24.

SENTENCE

Jesus said, "By this everyone will know you are my disciples, if you have love for one another."

COLLECTS

Everloving God,
the comforter of the suffering and the hope of the poor,
you gave Elizabeth strength and love
to minister to those in need;
give us grace to seek out those in trouble or in want,
and to serve you faithfully by our compassion for others;

Mystic, Prophet

November 20

Mechtild of Magdeburg was born in 1210 and in 1233 joined a group of Beguines, women devoted to charitable work, living in community under temporary vows. She had powerful religious experiences, dominated by the thought of “all things in God and God in all things”. She wrote these down in a book called The Flowing Light of the Godhead. She was also a trenchant critic of abuses in the church of the day. This led to some strong opposition. She spent her last years in a convent in Saxony and died there in 1297.

SENTENCE

You, O God, are not far from each one of us, for in you we live and move and have our being. Acts 17: 27, 28 (adapted)

COLLECTS

All-embracing God,
you called your servant Mechtild

November 22

The traditional story of Cecilia's refusal to consummate her marriage and of her eventual martyrdom for refusing to offer pagan worship is no earlier than the late fifth century. Historical information about her martyrdom in the third century is unavailable. However, her story was very popular, and she became the patron saint of music from the sixteenth century. That is the main reason for her commemoration today, giving as it does an occasion for celebrating music in worship.

SENTENCE

Clive Staples Lewis was born in 1898. He is best known as a popular apologist for Christianity in the twentieth century. He wrote novels on Christian themes for both children and adults, including “The Chronicles of Narnia”. He wrote other books, many based on talks he had given or articles he had written. These included The Screwtape Letters and Mere Christianity. There were more autobiographical works, Surprised by Joy, on his own Christian journey, and A Grief Observed, a moving account of his grief at the death of his wife. C.S. Lewis died on 22 November 1963.

SENTENCE

Clement was a bishop in Rome at the end of the first century. About 96 he wrote a letter known as 1 Clement. It was sent in the name of the church in Rome to Corinth to settle a dispute there caused by some of the younger members of the church. Clement strongly upheld the notion of hierarchical authority divinely instituted in the church. These views were influential in the growth of episcopacy, and 1 Clement was highly regarded by the early church.

November 30

Andrew figures prominently only in John's Gospel. There he is one of the first two followers of Jesus and the one who introduces his brother Simon Peter to Jesus. He presents to Jesus the boy with loaves and fishes to be used in the feeding of the multitude. Later he alerts Jesus to the interest of some Greeks in him. He is, then, as characteristic an apostle as any. We have no information about him after the resurrection, though he became the patron saint of Scotland.

SENTENCE

“I will give you as a light to the nations, that my salvation may reach to the end of the earth,” says the Lord.                    Isaiah 49: 6

Nicholas
Bishop of Myra

December 6

All we know for sure about Nicholas is that he was Bishop of Myra in Asia Minor some time in the fourth century. There are many stories about his love and care for children. He became the patron saint of children and, in a North American development, the giver of Christmas presents as Santa Claus. He is also a patron saint of Russia, seafarers and pawnbrokers. The legends told about Nicholas are delightful, but have no historical value. He is one of the most popular of the saints.

SENTENCE

Find your delight in the Lord, and the Lord will give you your heart's desire.

COLLECTS

Loving God,
the giver of all good,
we thank you for Nicholas and for the generosity he has symbolised
from generation to generation;
may we always be mindful of those in need and generous with what we have received;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Some saints, all-seeing God, are known only to you;
but who could rival Nicholas, Father Christmas,
saint for children, for Russia,
for sailors all over the world?
We thank you for the good he has done
and the marvellous way you have done it.

Ambrose
Bishop of Milan
Teacher of the Faith

December 7

Ambrose was born in 339. He became Bishop of Milan by popular choice in 374 when, as governor of the city, he intervened to stop riots over the election of the bishop. Ambrose did much to deepen the theology of the western church on the full divinity of Christ. In his defence of the church's independence from the state, he did much to shape church-state relations in western Europe. He had no hesitation in rebuking the Christian emperor when necessary. Ambrose died in 397.

SENTENCE

Defend the weak and the orphaned; maintain the cause of the afflicted and destitute. Rescue the weak and needy and save them from the hands of the wicked.

Psalm 82: 3, 4

COLLECTS

God of mercy and justice,
in a time of danger and confusion
you called your servant Ambrose to bring stability to your church;
give us discipline and wisdom in our trials,
that we may affirm with courage
the faith that we believe;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

O strength and stay, upholding all creation,
praise to you for Ambrose the governor,
who came unwilling, unbaptised,
to be your Bishop in Milan;
praise to you for his fearless attitude which upheld and built your church.

Richard Baxter
Priest, Theologian

December 8

Richard Baxter was born in Shropshire in 1615, and after ordination in 1638 became curate of Kidderminster in 1641. He developed strong Puritan sympathies, though he continued to support the idea of a national church. He proved himself a devoted and dedicated parish priest. He wrote extensively about his ideas on proper pastoral work and provided a model of evangelical preaching for conversion and commitment. At the Restoration in 1660 he was offered the bishopric of Hereford, but declined. He then suffered persecution for his Puritan views of a broad-based reformed church. He died in 1691.

SENTENCE

Deliverance for the righteous comes from the Lord; the Most High is their stronghold in time of trouble. Psalms 37: 39

COLLECTS

Everloving God,
we thank you for Richard Baxter,
your steadfast, earnest shepherd;
give us grace to serve you with single-mindedness,
and, like him, patiently to endure adversity and suffering,
to the glory of your name;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Eternal living Spirit in the church,
praise to you for Richard, the careful scholar,
the dedicated preacher, the patient sufferer;
may we too be willing to talk and listen to anybody,
be they bishop or leveller.

The word “holy” in the title, “Holy Men of the Old Testament”, is not so much about an achieved sanctity or perfection as about particular people who played important roles in interpreting to Israel the purposes of God in the covenant. The story can be traced from Abraham, through Moses, Samuel, David and the prophets to those who, sometimes at great personal cost, kept reminding Israel of its call, and laying the foundations of our own historical faith. We are their descendants and inheritors.

SENTENCE

We have heard with our ears, O God, we have learned from our ancestors the things you did in their time in days of old. Psalm 44: 1

COLLECTS

Almighty God,
you bound your people to yourself in a covenant of grace, and sent patriarchs and prophets
to keep them faithful in their journey;
grant that we who are heirs of your promise
may be true to the challenge of the gospel
and its demands of love;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Blessed are you,
God of Abraham, of Isaac and of Jacob,
of Moses, of Joshua, of Elijah,
and of all the men your covenant produced;
we pray you grant us their faith and resolution.

Thomas Merton
Spiritual Writer

December 10

Thomas Merton was born in France in 1915. His early life was unsettled and it was not until he was at Columbia University in New York that he began to explore Christian faith and the religious life. He was baptised in 1938 and entered the Trappist order at Gethsemani, Kentucky, in 1941. The publication of his autobiography, The Seven Storey Mountain, in 1948 brought him recognition as an outstanding spiritual figure of the twentieth century. Many other books on spirituality and issues of social justice followed until his death by accidental electrocution while in Bangkok on 10 December 1968.

SENTENCE

You, Lord, are in your holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before you.
Habakkuk 2: 20 (adapted)

COLLECTS

Gracious and everloving God,
you meet us in silence as well as in speech;
we thank you for your servant Thomas Merton
and the gifts he shared on our spiritual journey;
give us grace to be still that we may hear your voice,
and hearing may be strengthened
in our quest for justice for all your children;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

Blessed are you, God, in Thomas, who learned in silence to hear you
and feel your thirst for justice;
give us encouragement by his example to be still that we may know you

Octavius Hadfield
Bishop

December 11

Octavius Hadfield was born in England in 1814. Although ill health forced the curtailment of his university studies, he came to New Zealand in 1839 as a missionary, determined to serve God faithfully in what he expected to be a short life. He became a great evangelist and teacher of the Maori people on the Kapiti Coast, and was a tremendous influence for good upon the leaders of both races. He became Bishop of Wellington in 1870 and primate of New Zealand in 1890. He played his part in securing justice for both Maori and Pa-keha and in establishing a well-ordered church in this land. He retired in 1893 and died in 1904.

SENTENCE

Not to us O Lord, not to us but to your name give the glory, because of your love and your faithfulness. Psalm 115: 1

COLLECTS

E te Atua kaha rawa,
you gave your servant Octavius Hadfield strength out of weakness and faithful love to enrich the church in Aotearoa;
may we strive for justice and,
with equal care for all,
make known your truth,
for the glory of your name;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

E te Atua kaha rawa,
praise to you for Octavius, whom you called to preach the gospel,
to serve the Maori people,
and to build Rangiatea;
may we have his strength, no matter who opposes us.

Lucy
Martyr, Syracuse

December 13

At the beginning of the fourth century, the Roman emperors clamped down on recent innovations in the empire such as Christianity, and began systematic persecution of the church. Among those killed was Lucy of Syracuse in Sicily. We know nothing else about her, but her cult became widespread. Later stories described her as a wealthy virgin who gave help to the poor and was betrayed by an irate suitor. She died in 304. The derivation of her name from the Latin word for light makes light an appropriate theme for Lucy.

SENTENCE

The Lord is my light and my salvation, whom then shall I fear? The Lord is the stronghold of my life, of whom then shall I be afraid?

Psalm 27: 1

COLLECTS

All-seeing God,
we praise you for the faithful witness of your servant Lucy, who followed your word with simplicity and courage;
may we also hear your word
and never fail to act, regardless of the cost,
so that all may see the light of your truth;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

Jesus, slain for us,
we hold up to you Lucy, pure, betrayed, brave,
the ideal virgin martyr;
and we praise you for the church's innocence,
its courage and simplicity.

Marianne Williams
Missionary

December 16

Marianne Williams, pioneer missionary to the Maori, was born in 1793. As the wife of Henry Williams she came to New Zealand as a young woman in 1823, and from then on gave her life in unstinting service to the Bay of Islands Maori. As mother of eleven children, nurse, teacher, and friend to anyone in need, she made the love of God widely known. She never saw her homeland again. Instead she sought a better country and “endured as seeing him who is invisible”. She died in 1879.

SENTENCE

To you Lord I lift up my soul; my God I have put my trust in you.

Psalm 25: 1, 2

COLLECTS

Everloving God,
you called your servant Marianne Williams to advance the early New Zealand mission
by her determination and ability;
give us patience and unwavering courage to put all our talents at your service and to make your love known;
through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Loving Trinity,
you were strength to Marianne
in the early days at Paihia;
yours and hers was the care
which made the mission a success,

Christmas Eve is a time for celebration as much as Christmas itself. Expectation and anticipation are all part of the day. In our society the various pressures of preparation and the time of the year tend to ensure that we find it difficult to prepare ourselves in heart and mind to go to Bethlehem to see the Christ child. It is good that the preparation for the feast of Christmas is hallowed as well as the feast itself.

SENTENCE

The message of Christmas is “Emmanuel” - God with us. It is the theme that runs through the two accounts of the birth of Jesus, and that has dominated the celebration of Christ’s birth since the festival grew up in the fourth century: God with us in our hearts and our homes and our lives, sharing our joys and burdens, and strengthening us in our love of others and the whole creation.

Bishop, Martyr

December 29

Thomas Becket was born in London in 1118, and became archdeacon of Canterbury in 1154. Henry II appreciated his considerable administrative ability and made him chancellor of England in 1155. He fulfilled Henry's expectations so well that Henry made him Archbishop of Canterbury in 1162, hoping to control the church as well. Thomas however now gave his total loyalty to the church. A bitter struggle developed, during which Thomas spent six years in exile in France. In 1170 the exasperated king called for Thomas's removal, and four knights murdered Thomas in his cathedral on 29 December.

SENTENCE

Be faithful until death, says the Lord, and I will give you the crown of life.
Revelation 2: 10 (adapted)

COLLECTS

God our strength and support,
you gave your servant Thomas Becket courage and steadfastness

Josephine Butler
Worker among Women

December 30

Josephine Butler was born in Northumberland in 1828. From her father she inherited her conviction that social action is a necessary manifestation of religious belief. She conducted a vigorous campaign against the sexual exploitation of women and girls. She fought to have legislation abolished which allowed the forcible medical examination of women suspected of prostitution, but ignored the men. She opposed the trafficking in young girls for use in brothels, and she campaigned for the age of consent to be raised. In all these in England she was successful. She died in 1906.

SENTENCE

The Lord is a stronghold for the oppressed, a tower of strength in time of trouble.

COLLECTS

God of compassion and tenderness,
you call us in Christ to care for the powerless,
the poor and the exploited;

December 31

John Wycliffe was born about 1330 and became a leading philosopher at Oxford University. His attacks on corrupt clergy led to further criticisms of the powers of the clergy and the papacy and of the superstitions surrounding the eucharist. He urged the translation of the Bible into English. Although Wycliffe initially had royal protection, he was eventually forced to leave Oxford. He went to Lutterworth, where he died in 1384. He influenced the Lollards in England, and the development of ideas of reform among Czech scholars owes much to him.

SENTENCE

I will speak of your decrees before kings, O Lord, and I will not be abashed in their presence.

COLLECTS

Everliving God,
you raised up your servant John Wycliffe
to be a herald of renewal in the church;
give us ears to hear the voice of the prophet,
wisdom to discern the true from the false,
and zeal in your service;

Palm Sunday and Holy Week

In the fourth century, Christian pilgrims to Jerusalem developed the custom of processing with palms to the places associated with the triumphal entry of Jesus to the city. We stand in a long tradition of Christians who have sought to remind themselves of the way of the cross on this Palm Sunday. Let us celebrate it with delight and rejoicing; but also let us walk with Christ to the end of the journey on Golgotha, and to the empty tomb.

Maundy Thursday

The Christian eucharist comes directly from the last meal Jesus shared with his disciples before his crucifixion. He gave new meaning to their fellowship meals by linking his own life with them. The Maundy Thursday eucharist, following the Jewish custom of reckoning days from sunset, marks the beginning of the great events that climax Christ's work. May we be one with him in this eucharist, and in his life, death and resurrection.

Good Friday

Good Friday is the most solemn day in the church's calendar. In the fourth century, Christian pilgrims marked the day by visiting the places where Jesus went on his last journey, and there watched and prayed as part of their celebration of what God had done in Christ. Let us in heart and mind walk with all those who have faithfully followed Jesus in the way of the cross.

SENTENCES

Christ became obedient unto death, even death on a cross.
Therefore God has highly exalted him and has given him the name that is above every name. Philippians 2: 8-9

or

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have all turned to our own way, and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all.

Isaiah 53: 12

COLLECTS

YEAR A

Lord Jesus Christ,
crucified for us,
we kneel at the foot of your cross to watch with you.
Help us to see the cost of our forgiveness
so that we may be made new through your love;

YEARS B & C

Crucified Saviour, naked God,
You hang disgraced and powerless.
Grieving, we dare to hope,
as we wait at the cross
with your mother and your friend.
Hear this prayer for your love's sake.

PSALM                    22

Holy Saturday - Easter Eve

This Holy Saturday, Easter Eve, is an awesome pause in the running of the universe, a moment of profound silence. Jesus lies in the tomb, and we wait in prayer for God to declare that Yes to the work of Christ on the cross.

SENTENCE

When we were baptised into Christ Jesus, we were baptised into his death; so that as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, we too might walk in newness of life. Romans 6: 3-4

COLLECT

Grant O God,
that we who are baptised into the death
of your Son Jesus Christ, may continually die to sin
and be buried with him,
that through the grave and gate of death
we may pass to our joyful resurrection;
for his sake, who died and was buried
and rose again for us,
your Son our Saviour Jesus Christ.

YEAR A

SENTENCE

We have been buried with Christ by baptism into death, so that, just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, so we too might walk in newness of life. Romans 6: 4

COLLECTS

Eternal giver of life and light,
this holy night shines with the radiance of the risen Christ;
renew your Church with the Spirit given to us in baptism,
that we may worship you in sincerity and truth,
and shine as a light in the world;
through Jesus Christ our Lord,
who is alive and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit,
one God, now and for ever.

or

Lord of the passover,
you have lit this night with the radiance of Christ;
renew in us our baptism,
and bring us through the Red Sea waters
to the promised land.
Through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

YEAR B

SENTENCE

Christ our Passover has been sacrificed for us; therefore let us keep the feast. 1 Corinthians 5: 7-8

COLLECT

Lord God,
you made this night bright
with the radiance of the risen Christ;
may we who have been raised with him in baptism reflect the light of his glory,
and live with him for ever.

Easter Day

In this great celebration, we gather up all that has happened, from the birth in the manger to the great events of these last three days. In the Last Supper, Jesus offered his disciples a sign of his presence with them always. Let us, in this Eucharist, join with the countless throngs down the ages who have rejoiced in the triumph of God's love, won for us on the cross and proclaimed here in the greatest festival of all, as new life is made manifest in Christ.

SENTENCES

The Lord has risen indeed, alleluia!

Luke 24: 34

or

This is the day that the Lord has made; let us rejoice and be glad in it.

The Day of Pentecost

The great fifty days of Easter come to an end with the celebration of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit on the church, and the empowering of the church in its witness to the good news. It is a crucial part of the Easter story itself, as the risen Christ continues his gracious work in and through us and all his faithful people.

Trinity Sunday

Trinity Sunday is unusual in the calendar of the church, in that it marks a piece of theology rather than a person or an event. It developed as a festival in the Middle Ages as a proclamation of God's threefold action in creating, redeeming and sanctifying us, and as a summation of all the events celebrated in the festivals of God's saving work in Christ and through the Holy Spirit.

Te Pouhere Sunday

Second Sunday after Pentecost

In May 1992, the General Synod / Te Hinota Whanui adopted a revised Constitution / Te Pouhere, which established a three-Tikanga Church.

In 2002, on the 10th anniversary of that Constitution, the Synod/ Hinota thought it appropriate to commemorate the occasion of the revision of the Constitution / Te Pouhere of our three Tikanga Church on the first Sunday free from liturgical observance and nearest to that date. It was thus resolved that the second Sunday after Pentecost be adopted in The Calendar /Te Maramataka as 'Te Pouhere Sunday'.

A set of Lections (readings) were approved, along with a set of Collects (prayers) in the various languages of the Church described in the Constitution / te Pouhere.

This Sunday is a day on which it is appropriate then to remember and celebrate the Constitution of this Church and to focus worship on the three Tikanga character of this Church.

SENTENCE

There is no longer Jew nor Greek, there is no longer slave or free, there no longer is male and female; for all of you are one in Christ Jesus.

Master weaver, you are the creator and we are the flax with which you have plaited Te Pouhere, a whāriki which unites our tikanga in Aotearoa and across Te Moananui a Kiwa. Your hand has woven us so that each tikanga is revealed in the perfection of its design, its pattern in the texture of our differences, and its strength in the unity of its purpose to shelter and support your promise. Remind us you have woven us so that no strand by itself reveals your design but together we are the whāriki, Te Pouhere.

Living God,
you made heaven and earth and sea
and everything in them,
and have provided for all our needs;
help us to use the fruits of the earth wisely
and to share them generously;
through the one who sows with good seed,
Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Creator and protector of all that lives,
the riches of the earth are yours;
grant that we who use and enjoy your gifts
may never by folly or greed destroy them.

God, as we look at this harvest,
we thank you for the skills we have learned to make it what it is;
may we be grateful;
may we be generous.

SENTENCE

The sea is yours, O God, and you made it; the dry land also which your hands have fashioned.

COLLECTS

Eternal Lord God,
you alone have spread out the heavens
and rule the raging of the sea;
bless and keep all who go down to the sea in ships;
preserve them in all dangers and bring them in safety to the haven where they would be,
with a thankful remembrance of your mercies,
to praise and glorify your holy name;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Creator God,
you have made the sea beautiful and fearful;
be with all who sail on it for work or pleasure and give them safe passage
with Christ the voyager, who calmed the storm
and strengthened his disciples' faith.

God of change and invention,
be with those whose life is spent at sea.
In storm, in calm, in harbour,
be with them.
Be with them in danger, boredom or temptation;
for you are God,
you are our hope and strength.

Your path, O God, was in the sea and your way was through the great waters.

Social Services Sunday

SENTENCE

Let justice roll down like waters, and righteousness like an everflowing stream. Amos 5: 24

COLLECTS

God of compassion, you thirst for justice;
give to all who follow Christ
the vision of your kingdom and the gifts of your Spirit
to work for its coming;
through the one who alone satisfies all our thirst,
Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Just and all-seeing God,
you reach out to the poor and the sick;
you love the criminal, the cripple, the disadvantaged,
and those who work with them;
help us to build a fair community;
help us to understand your will.

by the gifts of the Holy Spirit.

Jesus of Nazareth, Saviour,
o te whakapapa o Rawiri,
inspire Te Pihopatanga o Aotearoa.
Bless all who serve the church in this land,
and give us new taonga to add to what we have;
a plentiful harvest to follow the planting.

God of all races and peoples,
you have given your Maori people a unique contribution to make to the rich diversity of your church;
strengthen the bishops, clergy and people
of Te Pihopatanga o Aotearoa, that by their worship and service
they may proclaim your love and bear faithful witness to the good news;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

For the Unity of the Church

SENTENCE

May the God of steadfastness and encouragement grant us to live in harmony with one another in accord with Christ Jesus, so that together we may with one voice glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. Romans 15: 5, 6 (adapted)

COLLECTS

Everloving God,
you have called us
in the body of your Son Jesus Christ to continue his work of reconciliation and reveal you to all the world;
forgive us the sins which tear us apart;
give us courage to overcome our fears and to seek that unity which is your gift and your will;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Lord Christ,
you command us to love one another;
make your people one together;
give us acceptance, give us trust,
anoint us with the precious oil of your Spirit.

SENTENCE

You O God have not despised or abhorred the poor in their affliction, but you heard them when they called to you. Psalm 22: 24

COLLECTS

Gracious and everloving God,
your Son has taught us
that what we do for anyone else, however unimportant,
we do for you;
give us the determination to be the servant of others
as he was servant of all,
who gave up his life for love of us,
but lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit,
one God, for ever and ever.

God, you are justice and peace;
to the powerful give a conscience,
to the oppressed, strength,
to the rich give generosity,
to the poor, security;
guide us in your way, not ours;

For the Ministry of the Church and Ordinands [Ember Days]

Weekdays following the Day of Pentecost and the week preceding St Andrew's Day.

On these days prayer is offered for all who serve the church in various ministries, ordained and lay, and for all to be ordained or commissioned to these ministries.

SENTENCE

Ask the Lord of the harvest to send out labourers to harvest the crop.

Luke 10: 2 (adapted)

COLLECTS

(For deacons, priests and those to be ordained)

Holy Spirit,
we pray you, comfort and encourage all deacons and priests
and the men and women soon to find themselves ordained;
may they bring joy and comfort from the Scriptures;
may they bring strength
through the risen body and the saving blood of Jesus.

For Work and Conservation [Rogation Days]

The day before and the day after the Feast of St Francis of Assisi
(October 4)

Prayers may be offered on these days for God's blessing on the fruits of the earth and the labours of all in farming and fisheries, industry and commerce.

SENTENCE

May your favour O Lord our God be upon us, and prosper the work of our hands.

COLLECTS

Gracious God,
the source of all good,
you have provided the resources of the world
to maintain the life of your children,
and have so ordered our life
that we are dependent on one another;
bless all people in their daily work,
and as you have given us the knowledge
to produce plenty,
so give us the will to make it available to all;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

God of our beautiful country,
give us care and skill in cultivating and managing what you have given us,
and we shall make it truly your own land.

Everloving God,
 you have so ordered the world
 that it produces its fruits in their seasons;
 guide the labours of all who work
 on the land or at sea,
 in our industries and business houses,
 that we may use the resources of the earth
 to your glory,
 for our own well-being,
 and for the relief of those in need;

Gracious God,
the giver of all good gifts,
by your Holy Spirit you have appointed various orders of ministry in your church;
hear our prayers for all deacons and priests
and for those to be ordained to those offices;
maintain them in truth
and renew them in holiness, that they may faithfully serve you
to the glory of your name
and the good of your church;
through Jesus Christ our Saviour.

(For lay ministers with particular responsibilities in the church)

Everloving God,
your Son entrusted his followers
with a ministry of love and healing in the world;
inspire the hearts of many
to give themselves to the exercise of responsible leadership in your church, that we may witness to your grace
and bring all people within your commonwealth of love;
through Jesus Christ our Redeemer.

Praise to you,
God of the eternal promise,
for the caring men and women who dedicate themselves,
with and through your church,
to bring the gospel to those around them;
may the people hear;
